Airport injunction hearing enters third day

By DALE GOWING
Of The Roman Staff

The hearing to decide whether construction will be stopped on a runway expansion project at Detroit Metropolitan Airport was expected to move into its third day today.

U.S. District Court Judge Cornelia G. Kennedy listened to testimony Monday and Tuesday from representatives of three Romulus factions who are seeking to halt further airport runway construction, and from attorneys for Wayne County and the federal government.

A member of Judge Kennedy's staff said Tuesday the judge "hopes it will end today of course, but it is not known really how long the hearing will last."

The hearing began Monday at 10 a.m., ended at 5 p.m. and was scheduled to resume yesterday at 10 a.m.

The plaintiffs—the city of Romulus, Romulus Community School District and homeowner Fouad Berry—introduced evidence against the defendants through their attorney, Jerrold A. Fadern of Beverly Hills,

It is not known really how long the hearing will last.

Calif. Romulus was supported at the opening day of the hearing by Mayor Terry Troutt, City Council President Beverly McAnally, Treasurer John B. Lewkowicz and several council members.

Troutt described the atmosphere of the hearing as being in Romulus' favor. "The Wayne County Road Commission representatives appeared very worried and upset about the whole thing," he said. "Fadern did an excellent job of presenting the evidence and had very good witnesses."

Fadern's presentation focused on the impact of noise from the airport, and how the proposed new runway would worsen it, Troutt added.

Defendants in the injunction suit are Wayne County, the County Board of Commissioners, Secretary of Transportation Claud S. Brinegar and Federal Aviation Administrator Alexander Butterfield.

Expected as "expert witnesses" for the Romulus parties were Dr. Karl Kryter, director of Sensory Scientists Research Center of the Stanford University Research Institute; and Dr. Maurice A. Garbell, president of

M.A.G. Consultants Inc. of San Francisco, Calif.

Kryter is regarded as one of the top audio or sound experts in the country and Garbell has studied airport-neighborhood compatibility problems.

A key witness in Fadern's case is Butterfield, who drew up the Environmental Impact Statement which Fadern charges falsely portrays the effect of aircraft on the community.

Judge Kennedy is expected to grant or dismiss the injunction sometime this week. If the injunction is granted, a later trial will be held to determine if a permanent injunction—or halt—will be imposed on the runway construction.

Romulus teachers announce 'strike'

By HENRY CANTIN
Of The Roman Staff

The Romulus Education Association (REA) officially has supported the Crestwood School District strike situation, notifying Romulus Community School administration of the association's plans to support teachers.

Romulus teachers' sympathy walkout association's sympathy walkout was scheduled for 10 p.m. Monday. The walkout was called off today, but has been delayed.

"Our position is that schools will be open," Assistant School Supt. James Garfield said. "We have a contract with the REA that runs through September 1974, and we expect the REA to abide by its terms."

Garfield yesterday added that the Romulus Board of Education would have to decide what action to take in the event the associations suspend teacher assignments.

"We will have to wait and see what transpires," he said. "We have heard that the REA has been in a renewed strike by about 200 members of the Crestwood Education Association (CEA)."

The Crestwood Board of Education has fired approximately 180 teachers for refusing to return to work and replaced them with newly hired personnel reopening schools on Monday. The Crestwood teachers have been without a contract since 1973.

The REA is one of 16 teacher unions in Wayne County to support the Crestwood teachers with sympathy walkouts.

Reportedly, Wayne County Circuit Court Judge James E. Stone is hearing the Crestwood Board of Education's motion to rescind its firing of the teachers.

There are 6,589 students in the Romulus district.

REA President Margaret Ross refused to comment on the teacher union's intentions regarding the Crestwood situation, and spokesmen for the Michigan Education association could not be reached for comment.

Zaborowski sworn in as new district judge

When Henry Zaborowski enters a courtroom these days, he views it from an entirely new angle than that from which he observed for the last 11 years.

Instead of Zaborowski the attorney, as he was known since 1963, the former Belleville lawyer now is Judge Zaborowski, and will be sharing the 34th District Court duties with James B. Stone.

The 34th District includes Romulus, Belleville, and Van Buren, Sumpter and Huron townships.

Officially beginning his new duties Jan. 1, the new judge was sworn-in by Stone. The two will share the existing court facilities at 30240 Eureka Road in Romulus. The city purchased an $8,000 mobile trailer to serve as a temporary courtroom for Zaborowski, but he said the interior is not yet finished.

The trailer is located at the rear of the courthouse and will be used for non-jury trials.

Zaborowski already is displeased with the makeshift courtroom, however.

"The access to the clerk's office is bad," he said. "They should put the 'box' they brought in over on the south end of the building, build a breezeway and connect it to the clerk's office."

Actually, Zaborowski hasn't had much occasion to use his courtroom yet. By law a new judge must spend five days visiting other district courts to view their administrative operations, and Zaborowski spent the first two days of this week at Westland's 18th District Court. He will visit the 33rd District Court in Trenton the final three days in January.

"Basically, I viewed the administrative part of the court in Westland," he said. "I've seen plenty of the actual courtroom part as an attorney, so I'm studying the office management angle and the intricacies of the court not seen by attorneys."

Although he already handled a "dozen or so" cases last week after being sworn in, the judge actually swings into his full-time routine today.

New judge takes oath

The 34th District Court's new judge, Henry Zaborowski (right), assumed his judicial duties on Jan. 1. He is shown taking the oath of office from District Judge James E. Stone. The ever-increasing case load of the district court prompted the election of another judge to assist Judge Stone. Both judges are residents of the Belleville area.—The Romulus Roman photo.

City to open hearings on expected grant use

By DALE GOWING
Of The Roman Staff

What to do with $667,000 in federal grant money likely to come to Romulus in the next five years is expected to be decided after a series of four public hearings on the issue concludes Jan. 21.

The first is at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow at Harrison Elementary School, where Community Assistance Director Charles Omarzu and other city officials will listen to citizen opinions on how the money should be spent.

The final three scheduled public hearings are Jan. 15, 16 and 21, at different locations.

The city is required to offer citizens an active role in the utilization of the grant money, expected to come to the city under the Community Development Block Grant Program.

Public hearings generally are regarded as the best way to gather wide-spread public opinion, according to officials.

After the hearings, Omarzu will draw up the necessary applications for the federal money which will then be offered for public scrutiny, he said. The public may then propose revisions and changes in the applications, he added.

The $667,000 anticipated for Romulus represents the city's potential share of a large grant set aside by the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) to assist cities in building projects, slum elimination and public works programs, among others.

The money cannot be used for building or improving on government offices (including courthouses), stadiums and sports arenas, schools, transportation depots, hospitals or nursing homes.

Prior to submitting its application for the funds, Romulus is required to have "provided its citizens with adequate information concerning the amount of funds available; the range of activities that may be undertaken; held at least two public hearings; and provided citizens an adequate opportunity to participate in the development of the application and in any revisions, changes or amendments," according to HUD.

Omarzu said obtaining the money is not a certainty, but added that if Romulus' application is approved, an amount of money considerably larger than the $667,000 could be granted the city.

He said $150,000 could be available to Romulus for each of the next three years and two-thirds of that yearly amount—or about $102,000—in each of the following two years.

The Block Grant Program is a first-year program which replaces several Model Cities and urban renewal projects.

Lions pledge eyes

The Michigan Eye Bank program has received a tremendous boost from the Belleville Area Lions Club. Every member of the local Lions club has pledged his eyes to the Michigan Eye Bank program, the first Lions group in the state to do so.

In recognition of the 100 per cent participation, District Governor Kenneth Latzenheiser presented the Michigan Eye Bank plaque to the club.

It is appropriate for Belleville to be the home of the first club to realize "across the board" eye bank pledges, since club member Max Koeppe is state chairman of the Michigan Eye Bank Committee.

State Police seek recruits

Woman applicants aged 21 to 30 again are being sought by the Michigan State Police as candidates for the position of state policewomen.

Applications will be accepted by the Michigan Department of Civil Service beginning this week and ending Feb. 4.

In addition to age limits, other qualifications include height, at least five feet two inches; weight, in proportion to height; U. S. citizenship and Michigan residency of at least a year prior to application; graduation from high school or its equivalent; good physical condition and good moral character; and no serious arrest record.

Park is a natural for winter sports

A wide variety of winter sports is popular during Michigan's winter season, and most of them can be found in abundance at Lower Huron Metropark near Belleville.

Sledding and tobogganing are available on moderate slopes in the park, cross country skiing also is popular throughout the park, and three natural ice rinks are provided at interconnected ponds located in a ravine where skating is permitted daily until 10 p.m.

Recorded music, light and wood for rinkside fires are provided for skaters, along with nearby restrooms.

For winter sports conditions, call 697-9181. The park entrance is on Hannan Road, a half mile south of I-94 between Detroit Metropolitan Airport and Belleville interchanges.

Public to voice views on railroad crossing

Just what effect on motorists a proposed closing of a railroad crossing might have will be brought to light tonight at a 7:30 p.m. public hearing in the City Hall council chambers.

Romulus residents living in an area bounded roughly by Goddard, Perry, Romaine and Romulus roads have been mailed notices of the hearing, the first of two required by law in such matters.

A request by the Norfolk and Western Railroad to have the city consider closing to auto traffic one of its crossings on Romaine between Perry and Goddard precipitated the hearing.

Railroad officials said there are two other crossings in the area that have to be maintained and that the closing of the Romaine crossings would not inconvenience seriously the people in the area, according to Romulus Department of Public Works (DPW) Director David J. Paul.

Paul said the closing of the crossing would in his estimation create a "minor inconvenience," but admitted that nearby residents might mount a stronger protest.

In particular, he noted the Columbian Subdivision which uses the Romaine crossing as one of three entrance-exits. With the crossing blocked off to autos, traffic would have to be re-routed to use the entrance-exits off of Romulus Road or Ozga Road.

The Ozga route recently was made available with the opening of a new overpass spanning I-94.

Paul said the stretch of Romaine between Perry and Goddard is very short, minimizing what could be a larger traffic headache if a large number of vehicles have to turn around after finding the crossing closed.

The railroad also informed the city that it plans to install signal devices at the Ozga Road crossing, at a cost of $60,000. According to the plan, Romulus would pay $8,000 of the total, which would come out of the city's highway department budget, Paul said.

That plan also will be subject to public scrutiny at the hearing.

In Wesleyan Church

Thrift Shop relocates

Struggling to get back on its feet after being evicted from its location of eight years, the Romulus Thrift Shop finally has found a place to call home - if only temporarily.

The congregation and The Rev. David M. Standfest of the Romulus Wesleyan Church on Goddard at Five Points has donated space in the church to the thrift shop "until the shop locates a permanent place to go," said Lois Sweet, the thrift shop's acting director.

She and director Florence Klein expressed their thanks to the church for temporarily donating the space, which will primarily be used for storing clothing items, Mrs. Sweet continued.

The thrift shop employees also will continue their job referral services from the church "headquarters," Mrs. Klein said.

When the shop will open in the church is not known, but the ladies indicated it may open next week. Mrs. Klein said a public announcement would be made.

While in their temporary quarters, the directors will continue to seek a permanent location for the non-profit organization. The thrift shop donated clothing, household items and referral services to needy persons in Western Wayne County for eight years out of its facilities in the Romulus Community Schools' Special Services Building on Washington Street, ending Jan. 1 because the school district said it needed the space.

Much of the shop's stock of clothing and household items was donated to the Salvation Army, since the shop's directors had no place to store it. They did, however, salvage a supply of baby clothes and related items.

The temporary acquisition of the Wesleyan Church rescued the shop, although Mrs. Klein said it will probably take several months to "put a good foundation under us again."

"The shop will continue, but it is in the process of reorganizing and relocating," she added. "We're definitely not going to close it, but just change its structure temporarily."

A recent plea by the directors for a piece of land to locate a new shop on went unheeded, as did a request for money donations.

Mrs. Klein said donations are welcome, and may be sent to P.O. Box 375 in Romulus.

Commissioners study centers

The 9-member Romulus Recreation Commission has been visiting municipal recreation centers in Taylor and Wyandotte as a means of helping to determine the feasibility of building a recreation and community center here.

Dane Bales, chairman of the commission, said the group is studying the cost and contents of those cities' facilities, but that no plans have been formulated for Romulus.

He added the commission will meet tonight, but did not know if the idea for such a center will be discussed.

Huron hopes to avoid strike by instructors

By RIC BOHY
Of The Roman Staff

While no definite statement of intention has been issued by the Huron Education Association (HEA) regarding a possible sympathy walkout in support of some 180 fired teachers in the Crestwood School District, Huron School officials remain hopeful there will be no interruption of classes.

"We're hopeful they will not walkout," said Philip Dalley, administrative assistant to the Huron Board of Education. "It is my understanding the teachers were to meet Tuesday to discuss the matter."

Dalley added that the board took formal action at its last regular meeting to open negotiations on next year's contract with the HEA.

"The board would like to assure continuity of operations and get the contract settled before the end of school," he said.

Dalley indicated that the board's show of good intention in calling for a start of negotiations combined with a no-strike clause in the current HEA contract has led officials to be hopeful about the district's relation to the Crestwood situation.

HEA President Colleen Christenson could not be reached for comment on the position of the teacher union.

In other areas, the Huron Board of Education resolved in special session Monday night to hold an election on Feb. 24 asking voter approval of two items.

The first item is a proposed bond issue of $4.9 million to refurbish existing facilities, new additions and the site at several district schools.

The second item involves a request for renewal of three mills for operating expenses. The levy expires in June, and the February ballot item seeks renewal for a 20-year period.

Welcome signs get facelifting

Motorists who in the past frowned at those rusted and often-illegible "Welcome to Romulus" signs posted at entrances to the city, are finding the greetings much more attractive lately.

Department of Public Works (DPW) employees last week began putting up new, welcome signs, featuring the city's official seal highlighted with tones of green, yellow, blue and black.

The 3-by-4-foot aluminum signs, which were silk-screened rather than printed, are the result of efforts by a 19-year-old Romulus man, DPW officials and a Wayne sign-maker.

Gary Barton, 19, a sophomore at Eastern Michigan University and a Romulus High School graduate, designed the official seal when Romulus became a city in 1970.

The seal depicts a factory, airplane and other sights native to Romulus within a circle, symbolic of the city's industry, airport and cleanliness.

Inside the circle are more figures, representing the city's schools and expressway.

Barton's design won top prize in a Women's Democratic Club Auxiliary contest in 1970.

To make the new signs, the city submitted the seal to sign-maker Jim Bolton, owner of Jan's Signs in Wayne. Bolton made a sketch of a sign and submitted it to the DPW and city for inspection. His design included the words "Welcome to Romulus" around the seal. The city liked it and subsequently ordered 50 signs from Bolton at $30 each, for a total of $1,500.

This year will be year of the dollar

If 1974 was the year of ethics in Lansing, and it was, 1975 will be the year of the dollar.

The big question to be answered by the governor and the Legislature this year will be how to distribute a tightly drawn state budget and how much to raise taxes to pay for it.

The tone of both years reflects the national picture and mood.

Lansing's year of ethics featured a year-long battle over campaign reform legislation and was highlighted by the resignation of a state senator, the censuring of a state representative and the investigation of a lieutenant governor candidate.

The state senator, Charles Youngblood, resigned after a bribery conspiracy conviction. The state representative, Joe Smeekens, was censured because of some questionable expense account items. The lieutenant governor candidate, James Damman, was investigated after being accused of conflict of interest while a Troy city official. The investigation hasn't been completed yet.

But such brouhahas are luxury items in the world of government. They involve personalities and their foibles or alleged foibles and are peripheral to the main question of who gets what and who pays what.

It's that basic question that will be front and center this year.

Gone is the booming economy that enabled the state to cut taxes twice in the past two years. Gone is the huge budget surplus that allowed spending increases without corresponding tax increases.

Now it's time to pay the piper. The state will end the budget year with no surplus. Instead, it will face a situation where current spending levels and current tax levels are incompatible. Taxes will have to go up or spending will have to drop. The betting is that the taxes will rise.

During the current fiscal year the state is spending better than $200 million more than it is taking in. That circumstance alone led everyone to the conclusion another tax increase would come in 1975.

Then in November voters repealed another $200 million per year in revenues by taking the sales tax off food and drugs. That means a $400 million differential if current levels were maintained.

Gov. William G. Milliken has been talking for the past few months of the need to tighten belts and bite the bullet. He said before the election no tax increase would be needed if the sales tax on food and drugs was kept.

The odds appear that he will come before the Legislature early in the year with a request for a small tax increase of probably less than $200 million per year. He will say that is enough to pay for a forward looking responsible budget. And he will tell the Democrats who run both chambers that if they want more money than that, they'll have to do it on their own.

He will be cast in the position of a governor trying to hold the line on spending and he will offer the Legislature the options of either following his lead or raising taxes higher than he asked for with him complaining all the way.

It will be a lot more intense than the ethics debates because it is a lot more basic. It also will be a lot more interesting.

Letters must be signed

A number of very interesting letters recently were received by the editor of The Enterprise-Roman for publication. But those letters will not be published in this newspaper. The reason they won't be published? They were not signed.

Although we welcome and encourage letters from our readers, we do not publish the letters unless we know who the writers are. We do, however, honor the writer's request of withholding his or her name from publication.

We hear some comments from readers of The Romulus Roman and The Belleville Enterprise that they have sent letters to the editor for publication but the letters were never published in the newspaper. They said that is why they are discouraged from writing.

Upon further questioning, the individuals admitted that they did not sign the letters, assuming that they would be printed anyways.

It is this newspaper's policy not to publish letters to the editor without verifying them with the author. We urge residents to write us, the letters may be mailed to Mrs. Lucy Wiesend, editor of The Enterprise-Roman, 405 Main St., Belleville 48111.

To break doom, gloom

Booklet offers humor on political scene

Too bad there were so few people in the Capitol when Berl Falbaum tried to peddle his booklet of political humor.

The Falbaum publication, titled "Just For Fun" could serve as an important reminder to state lawmakers in the months ahead when they are wrestling with the heavy burdens of a faltering economy.

The reminder is that even during the toughest of times — when unemployment is skyrocketing to new heights and the state treasury is eroding faster than the Lake Michigan shoreline — it's important to retain a sense of humor.

That means you shouldn't forget how to laugh.

Falbaum, a speech writer for the Detroit Edison Co., accumulated many of the political punchlines in his booklet during his 4-year tenure as press secretary to former Lt. Gov. James Brickley.

Many of the jokes were used in Brickley's speeches which Falbaum, a native of Berlin, Germany, wrote. Others were written specially for the yellow-covered joke booklet.

Explaining why he used a sizable amount of his own money for such a publishing venture, Falbaum said it was to help break some of the doom and gloom which pervades society after Watergate and during a sour economy.

"I'm not trying to make money by selling these," the 36-year-old Oak Park resident said. "In fact, if I sell all 1,500 I'll just break even."

Falbaum said in a philosophical voice, the important thing — is that people loosen-up, laugh more and see the humor which surrounds them everyday.

He went on to say that he doesn't mean that people should become professional comedians, just that they shouldn't take things so seriously.

That's pretty tough to buy during a time when throngs of people don't have jobs, when the homicide rate in Detroit is soaring out of sight, and when most everybody has hit the top of the cynic's scale.

But, Falbaum, who spent 10 years as a refugee with his family in Shanghai, said that it is necessary for a person to keep a sense of humor, in order to keep everything on an even keel.

A good portion of Falbaum's barbs are aimed at the Detroit area and Detroit area politicians.

Here's a sample:

— The Detroit Tourist Council, seeking ways to counteract the publicity given Detroit as the Murder Capitol of the United State, has voted against installing life insurance machines at the Detroit Metropolitan Airport in Romulus.

— One suburban mother, drawing a distinction between cross-district busing and busing to private schools, said the two are as different as black and white.

— The suburbs insist that they didn't discriminate, indicating that they abide by an open housing policy between 2-4 p.m. on Sunday.

— If suburbanites keep moving further from Detroit, they may soon have to get an oil change before arriving at work...and their zip codes will have 12 digits.

And for the folks inside the city:

— Air pollution is another big problem in the big city. Residents near factories have a saying that "on a clear day you can see whether your roof needs new shingles."

— I won't say that you have to wait long for police to arrive at the scene of a crime but one fellow's shotgun wound healed before they came.

Falbaum also has his own versions of President Nixon's resignation speech; President Ford's acceptance speech; the 18½-minute gap as transcribed by Rose Mary Woods, and a transcript of the meeting between President Ford and Leonid Brezhnev.

The booklet can be obtained by sending $2 to "Just For Fun", P.O. Box 484, Detroit 48231.

Can you imagine Oakland County Prosecutor L. Brooks Patterson and Detroit Mayor Coleman Young walking down Eight Mile Road telling each other jokes?

That would almost be enough to make the people in southeastern Michigan laugh.

It sure would beat killing each other.

Perspective from Africa

Naval activity could affect your life

SIMONSTOWN, Republic of South Africa — In the pink dawn light a Soviet destroyer, with all her reconnaissance gear whirling and pinging, makes her way cautiously down the Mozambique Channel separating the African mainland from the island Malagasy Republic.

South Africa's alert defense establishment spots the ship. Sophisticated apparatus monitors the vessel's every move, feeding the information back to Simonstown, headquarters of the South African Navy adjacent to Cape Town and the Cape of Good Hope.

Simonstown, a smoothly run facility, keeps guard of that vital area of the world where the South Atlantic meets the Indian Ocean. For a variety of political reasons much of the western world, including the United States, largely ignores Simonstown.

Yet it would be a disaster for the noncommunist world if this naval base ever fell into the wrong hands or was unable to keep open the sea routes around the Cape.

The hide-and-seek activity goes on around the clock 365 days a year. But it is not just a game for either side as the Russians probe and the South Africans keep careful watch.

A newspaper reader in the United States, living literally half a world away, might at first glance see little connection between this naval activity and his personal life, might even regard the scene sketched above as an attention-getting opening for a thriller movie or novel.

Intelligence sources stress that such an assessment could not be further from the truth. If the Mozambique Channel, off of Africa's East Coast, or any of the other approaches to the Cape of Good Hope ever came under enemy control in the event of an all out East-West confrontation, the present petroleum shortage in the western world would become a petroleum drought.

Every day more than a million tons of crude oil from the Middle East pass the Cape heading into the Atlantic. This volume represents the oil in a dozen or more giant tankers, with a similar number heading in the opposite direction empty.

The Mozambique Channel is 130 miles wide at its narrowest point. A Soviet blockade there would force tankers to swing well to the eastward in the Indian Ocean before they could round the Cape of Good Hope. Once scattered like that, they would be extremely vulnerable.

Even if no direct naval confrontation with the Russians ever developed, communist guerrilla forces supplied with armed vessels and operating in the fashion of old time pirates could harass the big clumsy tankers by sailing out from the Mozambique shore or from coves along the coast of the Malagasy Republic (Madagascar).

Considering its strategic importance, one would expect Simonstown to be bustling with allied naval officers and visiting warships. Not so.

The United States has kept the South African defense establishment at arms length for more than a decade. The State Department openly has discouraged private visits to Washington by high ranking members of the South African armed forces.

The British attitude is much the same. Every time Royal Navy warships in any number visit South Africa, the pinkish leftwing of Britain's governing Labor Party screams that humanity is being betrayed. Recently these same leftwingers objected because British sailors had such a good time while on shore leave in Cape Town.

Only the French Navy openly has sought a more friendly and cooperative relationship with the South African Navy. Now that they no longer operate from Diego Suarez in Malagasy, the French dearly would love to have base facilities near the Cape routes.

The American and British attitudes trace back to United Nations disapproval of the internal racial segregation policies of South Africa's white-run government.

For a variety of reasons, domestic and foreign, there is no question of the United States' government approving those apartheid policies even by implication, much as Prime Minister B. J. Vorster's National Party government might wish Washington to do so.

But would it not be prudent, in the interest of America's own defense, for Washington to take a more active role in the defense of the Cape sea routes and to allow U. S. warships to visit Simonstown again?

There are two views on this in Washington. Naval strategists in the Pentagon clearly recognize the vital importance of unquestioned control of the waters leading to and around the Cape of Good Hope, but they are not encouraged to sound off on the subject.

Many State Department experts take a different view. They concede that Washington might undertake in connection with African problems.

The State Department believes South Africa would make Simonstown available to friendly powers in any event in times of severe international crisis. That argument ignores the truism that a sound allied defense requires planning and exercises in advance of a crisis.

The problem of guaranteeing the sea approaches to and around the Cape was thrown into sharp focus when Prime Minister Harold Wilson's British government pulled out of the Simonstown Agreement, the document which heretofore had represented South Africa's tenuous defense link with the West.

That agreement was signed by the defense ministers of Britain and South Africa, then a member of the Commonwealth, in June 1955. It provided for the joint involvement of the two countries in time of war with South Africa's maritime strategic zone coming under the supreme command of a British admiral.

Britain's decision to abandon the agreement leaves a void which will have to be filled somehow, in the opinion of students of naval strategy. Part of the answer could be Diego Garcia, the British island in the middle of the Indian Ocean where a small defense establishment is being expanded to service American fleet units.

South African Defense Minister P. W. Botha has said that the reopening of the Suez Canal in a year or so would increase the importance of South Africa's task of guarding the Cape sea routes.

He offered the use of the Simonstown base facilities, which include a large drydock, to all friendly powers willing to cooperate with South Africa in defense matters.

Recently, under prodding from the leftwing, British Foreign Secretary James Callaghan left the impression in the House of Commons that the Simonstown Agreement was outdated and Britain was willing to tear it up.

This was a clever political smoke screen, however, since a closer reading of Callaghan's remarks showed what he really had in mind was future discussions between the British and South African governments looking toward an amended agreement more applicable to today's conditions.

Subsequently, South African Defense Minister P. W. Botha said that the reopening of the Suez Canal would make South Africa's task of guarding the Cape sea route even more important than it is now. He offered use of the Simonstown base facilities, which include a large drydock, to all friendly powers willing to cooperate with South Africa in defense of the sea approaches to and around the Cape.

This led to published speculation that ultimately the Simonstown Agreement might be amended into a 4-power document with South Africa, the United States, Britain and France cooperating to insure the free world's control of this vital seaway.

Any such arrangement would require a complete rethinking by President Ford's administration of the long term adverse security implications of present American policy toward South Africa.

Africans ponder name change

PRETORIA, Republic of South Africa — Many South Africans, who sometimes feel a sense of isolation from the rest of the world, wonder if it would be an advantage to give their country a name with a sharper identity.

"South Africa, after all, basically is a geographic designation," one resident said. "We constantly are surprised by the number of foreigners who still confuse the present Republic of South Africa with the Old Union of South Africa which pulled out of the British Commonwealth in 1961."

Historically, white settlements, both Dutch Boer and British, have gone under the names of Cape Colony, Natal, Orange Free State and the Transvaal, designations still reflected in the South African flag. Unified following the Anglo-Boer war at the turn of the century, these units are hard for a foreigner to sort out but are very real in the minds of South African citizens.

A number of proposals have been advanced for changing the name of the Republic of South Africa. Under one of the most controversial, the country would be referred to as "Azania".

This is the name which some of South Africa's critics abroad use to describe the country. Nevertheless, the Pretoria News said in a recent editorial, "Azania" should not be disqualified for that reason.

The term "Azania" originated many centuries ago at the time of the Ancient Egyptian King Ptolemy, the newspaper wrote. Court geographers used the word to refer to the southern extremity of the African continent of which they had only the haziest idea.

"The term's historical roots therefore are reasonably respectable, and since it cannot be claimed as the invention of our enemies, do we stand to lose anything by adopting it?" the newspaper asked. "It has a fairly pleasant ring and it certainly would take some wind out of our critics' sails. And, starting as it does with the first letter of the alphabet, it would get us well up the roll-call list at the United Nations."

CHAMPION MORGAN — Eight-year-old "Bar C's Elector," a Morgan gelding owned by Danny and Tommie Durgin of Belleville, displays his winning form prior to participating in one of many Morgan horse shows held during the past horse show season. The gelding won high point award from both the Michigan Horse Show Association and the Justin Morgan Horse Show Association in Ann Arbor's Holiday Inn West branch. The high point award is based on the accumulation of points earned throughout the horse show season.

Church holds special service

A special worship service for the first Sunday of the new year was held at the West Mound United Methodist Church of Taylor.

The service was written on Dec. 26, 1947 by the founder of United Methodism, the Rev. John Wesley of Oxford, England. For two centuries it has been almost unchanged and has come to be called, "The Covenant Service."

Because of the emphasis for each person to renew his Christian vows, several members of the church participated in the service. They include Carolyn Betz, Robert Luke, David Grove, Lynne Grove and Brenda Myers.

Pastor Robert Dobson preached the message for the morning entitled, "Demas: The Man Who Lost a Dream," from Second Timothy.

West Mound United Methodist Church is located at 22395 Eureka Road. There is child care and a crib nursery available during the worship service which begins at 10 a.m. each Sunday.

A church school with three adult classes follows at 11 a.m.

WCRC appoints department head

A new director of transportation for the Wayne County Road Commission has been named by commission officials.

Appointed to the newly created position was Robert A. Larson, 45, of Allen Park, a registered professional engineer and community planner. Larson will continue to direct all of the Road Commission's planning activities.

A University of Michigan graduate who received a master of science degree in civil engineering in 1958, Larson joined the Road Commission in 1957.

Active in numerous professional organizations, Larson recently was elected to the board of directors of the Southern Michigan Road Association, and has held offices in the Michigan section of the Institute of Traffic Engineers.

Larson and his wife, Nancy, are the parents of four children.

New licensing requirements for day care centers have been proposed in the state, and the Michigan Department of Social Services currently is working on a first draft of such regulations.

Physical fitness class can aid holiday fatties

Most residents of Western Wayne County probably enjoyed the holidays, especially at the table. They have eaten everything in sight, snacked at the office and gone to parties and other related activities. And now the results can be recorded by stepping on the scale.

"One thing you cannot see is what it does to your vascular system which has been experiencing extra loads of cholesterol, sugar and similar ingredients," said Ben R. Robertson, director of Van Buren Township Physical Fitness Program.

Snow queen contest accepts applications

Applications now are available to anyone in Western Wayne County wishing to enter the snow queen competition sponsored annually by the Detroit Camper Show.

Deadline for entries is Jan. 15. The 1975 show will be held Feb. 15-23 at the Detroit Artillery Armory.

One lucky young lady, to be named Miss Detroit Camper Show of 1975, will reign over the show, meet the press, appear on radio and television and earn some valuable prizes.

To be eligible, she must be age 15 through 21, either she or her parents must own a recreational vehicle and she must reside in Wayne, Oakland, Macomb, Monroe or Washtenaw counties.

Applications are available from recreational vehicle dealers or candidates may write Camper Show Queen Contest, Michigan Mobile Home and Recreational Vehicle Institute, 19045 Farmington Road, Livonia

"We are not saying not to eat during the holidays, but as you know you cannot keep up the same eating pace and expect to stay healthy," he added.

Robertson recommended that one New Year's resolution should be to get the body in shape. "Wouldn't we all like to experience a lean stomach, more energy, a healthy cardio-vascular system and feel better over all?" he said.

For further information on the physical fitness program, call Robertson at 699-2001.

Holidays delay study

A cost study of a special assessment district in the Van Buren Estates Subdivision to provide weekly rubbish collection will require additional time before completion because of the recent Christmas and New Year's holidays.

The study initiated by the Van Buren Township Board of Trustees in early December is being conducted by a special 3-member panel headed by Township Trustee Thomas M. Kelley. Other members are residents Catherine Howard and George Roberts.

The question of weekly rubbish collection was initiated by some residents of the subdivision, the township's largest residential development.

Mrs. Howard spearheaded a petition drive prior to the November election for a special assessment district for the subdivision.

The signature drive was halted pending voter action on a millage proposal to finance weekly rubbish collection on the entire township which currently has bi-monthly rubbish pickups.

A proposed millage increase of .42 mills to finance weekly rubbish pickups through the township failed to get voter approval. It was defeated by a vote of 2,402 — 1,398.

Following the November election, the signature drive for a special assessment district was renewed.

Meanwhile, the township trustees organized the special panel to study the cost of a special assessment district in the subdivision.

A time study on rubbish truck pickup operations and personnel during January will be made and included in the cost study, Kelley said.

In Van Buren

Economic sag hits building

The severe drop in the construction and building industry reported during 1974 in most sections of the country also was reflected in Van Buren Township.

A yearly report submitted by the township Building Department to the Van Buren Township Board of Trustees showed building activities in the township hit a sharp downward trend in 1974.

The total building in the township in 1974 had a valuation of $2,690,526.73. This compares with $8,451,722.12 in 1973.

The Building Department issued 531 building permits compared with 592 in 1973. Fees collected by the township amounted to $18,281.17 compared with $49,907.45 in 1973.

In addition, the Building Department issued 1,343 mechanical department permits and collected $36,236 in fees in 1974. This compares with 1,031 permits and fees of $21,072 in 1973.

Residential building accounted for $1,450,044 and commercial building projects accounted for $1,114,925 of new township building in 1974.

In 1973, residential building had an estimated construction cost of $5,542,172 and commercial development had an estimated construction cost of $2,763,550.

Residential projects last year included 29 single-family homes; 78 garages and carports, 81 additions, alterations and conversions; 18 residential structures other than buildings; and eight home demolitions.

In the commercial field there were 13 commercial and office units and six industrial structures built in 1974. School and church construction projects last year had a valuation of $109,507.

The electrical division of the Building Department last year issued 724 permits and collected $19,378 in fees. The heating division issued 422 permits and collected $11,679 and the plumbing division issued 197 permits and collected $5,179.

Bidding documents will be available, on or after January 2, 1975, at the office of the Architects upon deposits of $25.00 for each set of plans and specifications obtained. A maximum of two sets will be given to Bidders on deposit. Bidding documents may be examined at the following locations:

The Office of the Architect
Detroit Office of the F. W. Dodge Corporation
Builder Exchange, Detroit, Michigan
Scan Photomix, Inc.
Deposits will be returned in full to each bidder who returns all documents in good condition within 10 days after opening of proposals. No refund will be made on drawings returned in a marked or mutilated condition or on drawings returned after the 10 day period mentioned above, or to contractors not submitting a bid. Contractors withdrawing from the bidding more than 5 calendar days before the receipt of bids will be entitled to a return of their deposit if the drawings are returned when the Architect is notified of the contractor's intent to not submit a bid.

0010-05 Scope of Proposals
Separate proposals will be received for the following work:

- Proposal 10A-2 Steel Stair Forms
- Proposal 10B-2 Steel Stairs
- Proposal 12-3 Plumbing Trades
- Proposal 13-3 Concrete (Flatwork)
- Proposal 14-3 Heating, Ventilating and Air Conditioning Trades
- Proposal 15-3 Electrical Trades
- Proposal 16-3 Rough Carpentry

0010-06 Proposal Guarantee
Each proposal shall be accompanied by a certified check, cashiers check or bid bond payable to Romulus Community Schools, in an amount not less than 5 per cent of the maximum proposal amount. Such guarantee shall be forfeited to the Owner in the event that the successful bidder fails to enter into a contract with the Owner within ten calendar days after written notice of award of contract by the Owner or his agent.

0010-07 Proposal Conditions
The Owner reserves the right to reject any or all bids, to award the contract to other than the low bidder, to accept any or all alternates, to waive irregularities and/or formalities, and in general to make the award in any manner deemed by him, in his sole discretion, to be to his best interest.

0010-08 Contract Security
The successful bidder shall furnish bonds covering the faithful performance of the Contract and payment of all obligations arising thereunder, each in the amount of 100 per cent of the Contract. Premiums shall be paid by the Contractor. Form of bonds shall be AIA A311.

CITY OF ROMULUS NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING

Notice is hereby given that the City of Romulus will hold Public Hearings on Community Development and Housing Needs (pursuant to U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development's Community Block Grant Program). The Public Hearings will be held in the following places at the following times:

Date
January 9, 1975 (Thursday) 7:30 p.m. Harrison Elementary School
14701 Harrison Road
Romulus, Michigan 48174

January 15, 1975 (Wednesday) 7:30 p.m. Gordonier Elementary School
29814 Smith Road
Romulus, Michigan 48174

January 16, 1975 (Thursday) 7:30 p.m. Romulus City Hall
11111 Wayne Road
Romulus, Michigan 48174

January 21, 1975 (Tuesday) 7:30 p.m. Beverly Elementary School
35408 Beverly Road
Romulus, Michigan 48174

Background

City of Romulus is applying for a Community Development Block Grant from the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD). The primary objective of this program is "the development of viable urban communities, including decent housing and a suitable living environment and expanding economic opportunities, principally for persons of low and moderate income." The program consolidates several previous HUD programs, and is directed toward such objectives as:

- elimination of slums and blight.
- elimination of health safety, and welfare hazards.
- conservation of housing.
- more housing.
- expansion and improvement of community services.
- a more rational utilization of land and other natural resources.
- delocalizing income groups.
- restoration and preservation of historic properties.

To meet these objectives, certain activities are allowed. Some examples are:

- property acquisition.
 - certain public works & facilities projects.
 - rehabilitation projects.
 - preparing comprehensive community development plans.
- Some activities are not allowed. For example, facilities for which the funds cannot be used include:
- government offices (including courthouses).
 - stadiums and sports arenas.
 - schools.
 - transportation depots.
 - hospitals, and nursing homes.

Public Hearings

Prior to submission of an application, the City is required by the Federal law governing this program to have:

- (1) "Provided citizens with adequate information concerning the amount of funds available, the range of activities that may be undertaken, and other important program requirements."
- (2) "Held at least two public hearings..."
- (3) "Provided citizens an adequate opportunity to participate in the development of the application and in any revisions, changes, or amendments."

However, "the citizen participation requirements...do not include concurrence by any person or group involved in the citizen participation process in making final determinations concerning the findings and contents of the application. The sole responsibility and authority to make such final determination rests exclusively with the City of Romulus."

Each Public Hearing is to provide citizens with an opportunity to participate in the development of the application. An opportunity to propose revisions, changes, or amendments will be provided later when the application is formally presented to City Council.

Agenda

1. Introduction (10 Minutes)
 - a. Mention of Public Notice of Hearing
 - b. Introduction of Chairperson and City representatives
2. City of Romulus presentation (30-45 minutes)
3. Questions & answers dealing with City's presentation
4. Open hearings on application

Note: All hearings held at public schools must end by 11:30 p.m. so that the building can be cleared for closing.

MICHIGAN'S LARGEST

and numerous friends gathered Sunday to help her celebrate the special event. Mrs. Frommert, who was born in Germany, has been a resident of Romulus for the last 73 years. Her husband died 25 years ago.

Ford sends greetings to local centenarian

A personal telegram from President and Mrs. Gerald R. Ford was the highlight of many happy wishes and greetings received this week by Anna Frommert of Romulus.

Mrs. Frommert celebrated her 100th birthday on Monday and a party to honor the occasion was held Sunday in the home of her daughter, Hertha Boik of 24823 North Line Road in Romulus. Family members and numerous friends attended.

The President's telegram read:

"Mrs. Ford and I extend to you our warmest congratulations on a very special occasion- your 100th birthday.

"We sincerely wish you every happiness."

The telegram was signed by President Ford.

Mrs. Frommert was born on Jan. 6, 1875 in Germany. Her birthplace is located along the German-Russian border.

She has resided in the City of Romulus for the last 73 years. Her husband died 25 years ago.

In attendance at the birthday party were Mrs. Frommert's eight grandchildren, 20 great-grandchildren and two great-great-grandchildren.

Family members residing in Belleville say Mrs. Frommert is in good health, alert and spry for her age.

Although she received numerous personal gifts, she asked for flowers as birthday tokens.

A granddaughter quoted her as saying, "I love flowers and want to see them while I am alive."

Her advice to others: "Don't rush at things and try not to worry. Take each day as it comes and try to better yourself in mind, body and spirit."

Mrs. Frommert attends St. John Evangelical Lutheran Church at 35320 Glenwood in Westland.

Her daughters are Lydia Kolver of 36695 Ecorse Road; Mrs. Boik; and Hedwig Frommert of 24823 North Line Road, all of Romulus.

Scouts accept awards during holiday meeting

The December meeting of Cub Scout Pack 739 sponsored by Merriman Road Elementary School in Romulus, featured an early Christmas party and the presentation of awards and gifts.

Christmas carols were sung and in the middle of "Here Comes Santa Claus," good Old St. Nick appeared with Christmas Carol. While Santa talked to the Cub Scouts, Christmas Carol distributed candy canes.

The Cub Scouts also received flashlights at their den parties.

Awards were presented to David Jarvis, Recruiter badge; William Hering, 1-year Service Star; Tedd Gibbs and Todd Gibbs both received one Silver Arrow; Jerry Berwikowski, Denner badge and 1-year Service Star; Jimmy Brewer, Assistant Denner; Jeffery Cunningham, Thomas Caretto and Sam Wallace received Wolf badges.

Others receiving awards were Chris Mann and Ken Poma, who both received their Bobcat pins and were advanced to the Webelos; Keith Watts, Traveler and Arrow of Light; Stan Zimmer, Aquanaut and Outdoorsman badges; Bobby Bales, Athlete; James Hamm, Denner, Aquanaut, Artist, Athlete, Outdoorsman and 2-year Service Star.

Also Eric Lindberg, Assistant Denner badge and 2-year Service Star; Ken Poma, Athlete; and Bobby Bales, 2-year Service Star.

WOODSHOP PROJECT — A recent wood working project for some first graders attending Belleville's Elwell Road Elementary School involved the use of centimeters in measuring. These three young students are (from left) Bert Wilson, Ray Honchel and Patrick Chevalier who, with their classmates, made Christmas calendars for their parents. The calendars contained sanded balsa wood with calendar and ribbons attached.

Public safety project delayed

A study into the possible formation of a police, fire and safety commission in Van Buren Township temporarily has been delayed.

A 5-member committee recently selected and approved by the Van Buren Township Board of Trustees has been assigned to make the study and file recommendations on the proposed police, fire and safety commission.

The reported illness of committee chairman Jerry Maton has caused the temporary delay in operations.

Other members of the study committee are Police Chief John R. Willet, representing the township's Police Department; fire fighter Robert Beck; George Heifner, director of the township's Civil Defense Department; and Stephen J. Kuchta, representing township citizens.

First aid training to be rescheduled

A cardio pulmonary resuscitation class for township residents scheduled for this week at Van Buren Township Hall has been postponed and will be re-scheduled for a later date, according to George Heifner, director of Van Buren Township's Civil Defense Department.

Cardio pulmonary resuscitation training is an essential tool for administering artificial respiration in cases of heart attacks, drowning and some cases of severe shock, Heifner said.

The January class was to begin tomorrow but was deferred to a later date.

Two previous classes also held at the Township Hall, 46425 Tyler Road, were well attended, Heifner added.

police and fire commissioners, both members of the township board.

The day to day operations of the departments are under the direction of department chiefs.

The proposal for the formation of the township's first police, fire and safety commission was initiated by Heifner at a recent township board session.

Heifner proposed a 5-member commission consisting of men and women who would be appointed by the township board to serve staggered 2-and 4-year terms instead of the current single commissioner system.

The commission would process all applications for both departments and submit its recommendations to the township board.

During winter months

Homeowners warned of fireplace hazards

As winter weather and fuel conservation bring fireplaces into increasing popularity, the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission reminds consumers that more than 6,000 children and adults required hospital emergency room treatment last year for injuries associated with fireplaces and fireplace equipment.

Children under 5 years old sustained 65 per cent of the injuries reported to the Commission; about 15 per cent of the injured were between five and 10 years old. Although most injuries involved lacerations, five per cent were burns which frequently are among the most painful and long lasting injuries.

Injury reports in commission files record cases in which children's nightclothes ignited when they stood too close to an open fireplace; a student's brushed denim jeans ignited while she was warming her legs near a fireplace with gas fireplace logs; adults and teenagers received severe burns when gasoline or other liquid fuels were poured on fires mistakenly in attempts to rekindle them.

A less obvious hazard resulted in injuries for at least two families who were overcome by carbon monoxide or other toxic fumes. One family tried to burn charcoal in the fireplace and the other had accidentally thrown some polystyrene foam packaging onto the fire.

The National Fire Protection Association estimates that there will be 14,000 house fires this year started by fireplaces. Major causes of these fires include overloading the fire, damage to the fireplace such as missing bricks, obstructed flues, ignition of nearby combustibles, and flying sparks.

Factory made built-in metal fireplaces that were overloaded with fuel or improperly installed were associated with a number of fires last year.

After 15 to 20 fires in the same county were traced to this style fireplace, one fire chief urged the use of "small romantic fires" rather than roaring blazes that could cause the fireplace to overheat over a period of time and ignite nearby materials.

For the safer enjoyment of the nation's 22 million fireplaces, the commission recommends the following safety precautions:— Be sure the fireplace was constructed for actual use, not just for decoration. Inspect it to be sure that it has adequate protective linings and smoke ducts and that the chimney is clear and in good repair.

— If installing a factory-made fireplace, insure that it is not near any combustible materials and has adequate flame and heat barriers.

— Open the damper before lighting the fire and keep it open until the ashes are cool. This will avert the build-up of poisonous gases, especially while the family is sleeping.

— Never use gasoline, charcoal lighter or other fuel to light or relight a fire because the vapors can explode. Never keep flammable fuels near a fire. Vapors can travel the length of a room and explode.

— Do not use coal or charcoal in a fireplace because of the danger of carbon monoxide build-up. It is not a good idea to burn trash or wrappings in fireplace fires because polystyrene foam and other coated materials can generate deadly fumes. Flying paper embers could also ignite the roof.

— Do not treat artificial logs like real logs. Artificial logs usually are made of sawdust and wax and have special burning properties. Be sure to read the instructions on the logs and follow them carefully. Use just one log at a time and do not add another log until the fire is completely out. Never add an artificial log to a natural wood fire that is already burning. Wait at least two hours before adding an artificial log to a natural log fire because it could cause a flare-up.

Do not poke artificial logs because the flaming wax could stick to the poker and drop onto the floor or carpet. Poking a log also could cause a flare-up.

— Home rolled newspaper logs should never be soaked in flammable fuels of any kind because of the severe danger of explosion. Soaking the newspaper in water either before rolling or during rolling removes the clay content and will provide a better burning log. Then, stack the logs on end and let them dry for two weeks in the basement. When lighting the newspaper logs, use kindling just as you would for a regular fire.

Do not overload the fireplace. Large fires can lead to overheating of wall or roof materials, particularly if the fireplace is constructed of metal.

— Always use a screen around the fireplace to keep sparks from flying out and to protect children and adults from accidental clothing ignition.

— Warn children about the danger of fire. Do not let them play with fire.

— Keep flammable materials such as carpets, pillows, furniture or papers away from the fireplace area. Be sure the Christmas tree is not close enough to be ignited by a spark. Be especially careful of accidentally igniting holiday wrapping papers.

— Make sure that the fire is out completely before retiring for the night or when leaving the house.

Couple fly to Hawaii for week's honeymoon

A pre-Christmas wedding at the Berean Baptist Church of Belleville united Sandra E. Parker and David M. Gutowski, both of Belleville, in holy matrimony. The Dec. 14 ceremony was conducted by the Rev. H. Franklin Miller before an altar graced with poinsettias and candles.

Bridal music was played by Belva Brown and sung by Mrs. Clarence Brown.

The bride exchanged wedding bands and vows at 4:30 p.m. in a white gown of taffeta and lace, the full bouffant skirt being comprised of tiers of lace. Other styling details included long wristpoint sleeves and a high scalloped neckline.

HER ILLUSION veil drifted to fingertip length from a little lace cap and her white carnations and red and pink roses were formed into a cascade bouquet.

Mr. and Mrs. Glen Parker of 8039 Marlowe, Belleville, and Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Kazanowski of 4875 Korte, Dearborn, are parents of the young couple.

The bride chose her sister, Jan Parker, to be honor attendant. Bridesmaids were the bridegroom's sister, Debbie Kazanowski of Dearborn; Mrs. Robert Grandmason of Ypsilanti and Mrs. Nelson Hall of Belleville.

Their identical costumes included gowns with red velvet bodices and pink chiffon skirts, red velvet ribbons in their hair and bouquets of colonial-style white carnations, red roses and red holly.

ALSO IN a similar little frock was four-year old Tina Liddell, daughter of the Richard Liddells of Mt. Clemens who was flowergirl at her uncle's wedding. Ringbearer was Samuel Coulmore, the five-year old son of the Jonathan Coulmores of Belleville.

Making up the corps of groomsmen were Bill Gutowski of Inkster who was his brother's best man; Bob Gutowski of Inkster, another brother; Rick Parker of Belleville, the bride's brother, and Bob Grand-mason of Ypsilanti. At the reception which followed in the fellowship hall of the church, Mrs. Parker received in an aqua formal-length gown of polyester knit and Mrs. Kazanowski, the bridegroom's mother, in a blue knit toe-touching gown. Both were honored with corsages of white orchids.

For traveling to Honolulu, Hawaii for a week-long honeymoon, the new Mrs. Gutowski wore a red and white polyester knit outfit. Since their return the couple have taken up residence at 8701 Belleville Rd., Belleville.

The bride, a 1971 graduate of Belleville High School, is employed at Howard Johnson's of Belleville. Her husband graduated from Fordson High School in 1968, served with the U.S. Army for three years, part of which was in Vietnam, and is now employed by United Air Lines at Metro Airport.

The bridegroom's parents played host at the rehearsal party in their home Dec. 13.

Survey shows acceptance of standardized labels

Uniform Retail Meat Identity Standards (URMIS) have been accepted and endorsed by retailers across the country, according to an informal poll taken by the National Love Stock and Meat Board.

H. Kenneth Johnson, executive director of the Board's Food Science Division, said the survey was made to determine both industry and consumer response to the standardized meat labeling project which was launched a little over a year ago (Sept., 1973).

Most of the major chains in the country are following the labeling standards.

TO DATE, governing agencies of 32 states have recognized the program. Some states either have mandatory legislation to use the program or are considering such legislation while other states suggest voluntary compliance.

Under URMIS, each label has a three part description, giving the species of animal, the name of the wholesale or primal cut and the specific retail cut name.

Most of the retailers contacted said they had experienced no problems in adopting the streamlined system to meat department operations in their stores. Retailers reported that customer awareness and acceptance of the Uniform Meat Identification System had also been increasing, although some had expected greater interest on the part of the consumer.

Stores which had the better customer acceptance were generally those which featured URMIS in their advertising programs and had used point-of-purchase material, wall charts and customer booklets in the store. One retail manager reported that the younger shoppers in the store seemed to be the ones most aware of URMIS, saying they were learning the system as they were learning to shop for meat while older shoppers had to "unlearn" names which had been used in the past.

TO AID consumers in the transition from old to new labeling, some stores used two labels, one the approved URMIS name, the other the old "fanciful" name.

Get your news printed

Let's start the new year right

By LEE SMITH
Suburban Living Editor

Okay, gals, let's start the new year right, okay? We're referring to you publicity chairmen particularly—those who've been named to get their club news into the paper. Whether you've accepted the job willingly or reluctantly, it's still up to you to meet certain deadlines and standards.

So often the person chosen bemoans the fact that "I can't write" but, believe me, that's the least of your worries. Remember, there's a staff of reporters who are trained to do just that for you (a chore to the novice, a snap for the experienced). So don't feel insecure, shy or hesitant about submitting your items.

The main thing to remember is to have a pad and pencil handy DURING the meeting and to jot down notes as things progress. So often people get home and a week later attempt to recall who spoke, what was accomplished, where the next meeting would be held, when the rummage sale was scheduled and why they voted to donate that money.

There's your clue in a nutshell—who, what, where, when and why—the five W's of journalism. In remembering those five little pronouns and conjunctions, you'll have the whole gist of your story and capsulized to boot.

Bazaars, sales and other fund-raising projects should be publicized well in advance in order to allow our photographer to get into the act. If warranted, we'll make every effort to see that some kind of "art" (picture) accompanies your story.

To save duplicating an item and perhaps confusing the issue, just one person should be delegated to contact the newspaper, preferably by writing down the information. Short items (such as those for the "It's a Date" column) will be taken by phone but stories involving names are a must in writing. This helps prevent incorrect spellings since s and f, c, z and e and g and j sound too much alike over the phone.

It's really best if the notes can be submitted in typed form but legible handwriting or printing is always acceptable.

Deadlines are a most important thing to get straight right from the beginning since that's what will determine whether your story makes or misses the next issue. For our Suburban Living pages, we ask that items be in no later than 2 p.m. Thursday in order to make the following week's paper. Dropping an item off at 4 p.m. Thursday will NOT get to the presses on time. So please jot that time down at the very top of your publicity chairman list and we'll all end up on a happy note.

A few more do's to refer to when readying your story: DO double space when typing. This gives us room for corrections and instructions to the printer. DO leave ample margins at the top (about 3 inches) and at the sides (about 1 inch) for the same reason.

DO refer to your members in the same connotation such as Mrs. John Doe and Mrs. Harry Smith rather than Mrs. John Doe and Mrs. Linda Smith or use names without titles such as Mary Doe and Linda Smith. Social clubs usually prefer the former usage while business clubs generally use the latter form.

Most important of all, please include a telephone number where you can be reached during business hours (9 to 5). In the event we have to check a date, name or spelling, we are able to make the correction immediately.

The Suburban Living pages of the Belleville Enterprise and the Romulus Roman also welcome news of a social nature as will use weddings, engagements, births, anniversary celebrations, out of town guests, vacation trips and other items with a family flavor.

This is your paper and we want to include material you enjoy. So pick up the phone or drop us the information and you'll soon see your story in print.

Oh, and by the way, if you've stopped by in the past three weeks and didn't find the office open, it's because we're not "there" anymore. But we are just a few steps away—directly behind the old office area—and you can reach us by using the side entrance at 116 Fourth Street.

Baby is first on Christmas at St. Joe's

Probably the nicest present the Michael Fingerle family received on Christmas morning was the 8 lb., 14 oz. bundle marked "Kathleen Marie." Their new baby daughter, who made her debut at 4:57 a.m., was the first Christmas baby born at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital in Ann Arbor.

The Fingerles (she's the former Carolyn Harrison of Belleville) reside at 6222 S. Ivanhoe, Ypsilanti. They are also parents of a four-year old son, Michael Anthony. Grandparents of the youngsters are Mr. and Mrs. Frank Harrison of Belleville and Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Maslin of Ann Arbor.

Party marks his retirement

By Lee Smith
Suburban Living Editor

When a fella has been associated with his work for a good 40 years and when friends learn he is planning to retire, there's usually some kind of accolade planned in his honor. And when it's done with the finesse of professionals, there's usually a celebration with a grand slam finale.

Dec. 31 not only marked the end of 1974 but was the evening that Justy and Marge Emerson were to entertain their bridge club - a group of 12 which has been bidding against each other since 1958.

It seemed an ideal time to pay homage to their good friend, so the other 10 - Doug and Shirley Cullin, Russ and Phyllis Seaman, John and Jan Wyman, Bert and Amy Osterberg and Lou and Lee Robson - put their heads together and came up with a few surprise tricks for the man-of-the-hour.

Instead of going directly to the battle field after their customary dinner together, the group brought out a beautifully decorated cake (lavishly iced with rosettes and "the works" by Mickey Maton). Justy was asked to cut the first slice of the confection which bore the inscription "Good luck, Justy and Marge." So he willingly set about to carve away. Unbeknownst to either of the Emersons, the deceptively lovely frosting covered a foam rubber base. So it was with real perseverance (and a bit of muttering under his breath) that Justy finally managed a wedge for his bride who, by then, was wise to the antics of her bride-mates.

Following the hilarity of the cake episode, there were still more honors to be heaped on the former Detroit Edison executive - the trump card being the one share of stock in "Michigan Consolidated Gas" which the club presented the couple.

Then, amid champagne toasts, there were testimonial letters read by each of the men. Composed by Doug Cullin, each letter was appropos to the letterhead it bore (Doug having garnered the sheets from various impressive establishments including the selective service).

There were a number of other clever gag gifts to mark the occasion including an original caricature done by the Robson's daughter, Kathy, of Marge going off to her teaching duties while Justy lounged in his favorite chair.

The entire party was taped and recorded on film so, we suspect, there'll probably be an upcoming card party pre-empted by the hosts presenting "The Emersons in Review" - a little sneak preview bonus for the night.

New women studies set by Wayne State

The Women's Studies Program of Wayne State University's College of Lifelong Learning will offer a series of five courses in the winter quarter, beginning January 9, 1975.

This WISH series - "Woman in Search of Herself" - is designed for any woman who is looking for constructive ways to utilize her energies, to enjoy the company of other women, and at the same time, to grow, both emotionally and intellectually.

Three courses are at the WSU Southfield Center, 25610 W. Eleven Mile Road. "Listen to Women Speak," (Wed., 9:30-11:30 a.m.) a course in women's autobiography, looks at the lives of various women as set forth in their own personal diaries, poems, songs and on tape and film.

"Interpersonal Communication" (Thurs., 9:30 a.m.-12:30 p.m.) is designed specifically for persons who desire to improve their ability to communicate with the people they encounter in everyday life.

For those who have any type of creative bent, the "Women's Art Studio" (Wed., 7-10 p.m.) provides studio work in all media in addition to guest speakers, informal critiques and slide presentation.

Holiday season chosen for Snow-Kress vows

With poinsettias, holiday candles and pine boughs as a background, Phyllis B. Kress and Gregory M. Snow, both of Ann Arbor, exchanged wedding vows and rings at St. Anthony's Catholic Church of Belleville.

The Dec. 28 ceremony was read by the Rev. Raymond Skoney before some 200 assembled guests. Lester King was at the organ to play traditional bridal selections for the 11 a.m. rite.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter M. Kress Sr. of 13787 Farm Rd., Belleville. The bridegroom is the son of Muir B. Snow Jr. of 1062 Philip, Detroit, and the late Muriel Snow.

ESCORTED TO the sanctuary by her father, the bride appeared in a white velvet gown designed with a square neckline. The lace and pearl accents were repeated on the wide cuffs of the full bishop sleeves.

Made by the bride in the A-line mode, the dress was complimented by a long veil of embroidered lace which she also made. Completing her ensemble was a cascade bouquet of two dozen pink roses interspersed with baby's breath.

The bridal coterie, identically dressed in green velvet, included the bride's two sisters, Priscilla Kress of Ypsilanti as maid of honor, and Pamela Kress of Ypsilanti as bridesmaid. Completing the trio was Gale Isabell of Detroit.

Patterned in the princess line, their frocks featured high collars and long sleeves trimmed in sculptured lace. Also made by the bride, the dresses were accented by white muffs with rose corsages attached.

BEST MAN was the bridegroom's brother, Muir B. Snow III of Grosse Pointe. Groomsmen were Neil Snow, another brother from Grosse Pointe, and Karl Harrington of Detroit.

At the 1 p.m. reception in Livonia's Roma Hall, Mrs. Kress received in a pink knit gown with antique lace on the collar and bell cuffs. Her corsage was a purple orchid. Following a six-day honeymoon in Toronto, Ont., the newlyweds will make their home in Ann Arbor.

MISS COSTA

MISS HARTSUFF

MISS TALAGA

Holiday rings mean upcoming weddings

Costa - Taylor

Two sophomores at Eastern Michigan University, Deborah J. Costa and Glenn A. Taylor, are engaged but have not set a wedding date as yet.

Their betrothal is announced by Mr. and Mrs. August Costa of 43260 Bemis Rd., Belleville, parents of the bride-elect who is employed at Belvil Community Hospital.

The bridegroom is the son of Ronald Taylor of Penbury Lane, W. Bloomfield Hills, and Mrs. E. Sala of 714 Savage Rd., Belleville. He is an employee of Howard Johnson Motor Lodge in Belleville.

Both young people are 1973 graduates of Belleville High School who are now members of the EMU Ski Club. Miss Costa is majoring in art education and her fiancé in psychology.

Hartsuff - Parent

The engagement of their daughter, Janese Lynn Hartsuff, to William Herbert Parent is announced by Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hartsuff of 21850 Bell Rd., New Boston.

Both young people graduated from Huron High School. The prospective bridegroom, the son of Mrs. Herbert Parent of 20707 Waltz Rd., New Boston, and the late Mr. Parent, is employed at New Boston Auto.

As yet no date has been set for the wedding.

Talaga - Stein

Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Talaga Sr. of 192 Clarence St., Belleville, are announcing the Christmas engagement of their daughter, Susan Marie, to Dennis Leon Stein, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Stein of 2035 Carleton West Rd., Carleton.

The bride-elect, in her junior year at Belleville High School, is planning an August wedding at St. Anthony's Catholic Church.

Her fiancé, a 1974 graduate of Airport High School in Carleton, is employed at B & M Industries of Newport.

Newlywed Chadwicks honeymoon in Florida

Following their honeymoon in Tampa and Miami, Fla., the newlywed Joseph Robert Chadwicks took up residence on Thimbark Road in Wayne.

Elaine Wise Houle became Mrs. Chadwick in a recent ceremony at the First United Methodist Church of Wayne. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Wise of Camden, Ind., formerly of Wayne. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Chadwick of Atlanta, Mich. and Zephyrhills, Fla.

The mid-afternoon wedding was conducted by the Rev. Charles Jacobs before some 75 assembled relatives and friends. For the occasion the sanctuary was decorated with white poinsettias.

Mary Orwin was at the organ to play appropriate music as the bride walked up the aisle with her father. She wore a long-sleeved gown of pale aqua knit patterned in the A-line mode and a spray of baby's breath tucked in her hair. Her flowers were pink roses and carnations, white mums and baby's breath.

As her sister's honor attendant, Beverly Johnson of Belleville donned a mauve-colored gown styled with long sleeves and accessorized with a bouquet of pink carnations, white mums and baby's breath.

Linda Heiser of Belleville was bridesmaid in a long-sleeved mint green gown with a bouquet to match that of the honor maid.

David Coffin of Belleville filled the role of best man with Richard Gregg of Belleville serving as groomsman. John Bolton and Richard Heiser ushered.

A small reception followed at the Thimbark residence.

The bride is employed as a keyliner for Associated Newspapers in Wayne and her husband is a captain with Zantop International Airlines.

Romulus resident is DIT graduate

Among recent graduates of the Divers Institute of Technology in Seattle, Wash. is Frank L. Zimmerman III, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank L. Zimmerman, Jr. of 36660 Wick Rd., Romulus.

Graduating as a commercial deep sea diver on Dec. 27, he is now qualified to dive to 200 feet in air and HEO2 mixtures. He learned to complete various underwater tasks including burning and welding while using conventional hard and light weight gear, scuba, Hookah, Desco and mixed gas units.

In addition to the underwater tasks, he also studied diving physics, physiology, salvage, decompression and treatment procedures, underwater photography, use of explosives, gas mixing and analyzing, manifold operations and recom-pression chamber operations.

After a short vacation, the graduate will pursue employment in his newly acquired skills.

Jennifer Kay is pre-holiday 'gift package'

Jennifer Kay is the name chosen by Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Clayton of 11064 Borgman Rd., Belleville, for their new daughter born Dec. 16 at Beyer Memorial Hospital in Ypsilanti.

The 6 lb.-15 oz. newcomer is the little sister of Michael James who's 16 months old.

Their grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Clayton of Belleville and Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Litton of Mayo, Mich., formerly of Belleville.

It's a date

To beat winter blahs

Dish up a tempting French dinner

Homemakers looking for something to add a different taste to mid-winter meals will find a touch of far away places when serving up ethnic delights.

If you're bogged down by the usual meat and potatoes dishes, try serving something exotic. French, mid-eastern or Scandinavian dishes need not be mind-boggling or difficult.

A little extra effort and the result could be a meal brimming over with tempting delights.

Many people reject French food if they are watching their diet, fearing it as very rich. This may be true in some cases as with quiche lorraine or chocolate mousse, but need not be the rule.

Here is a menu of French dishes adapted for the modern American diet. All the recipes are low in cholesterol and saturated fat and high in polyunsaturates.

The French are experts in the art of blending herbs and spices resulting in the most subtle of flavors. They, however, often will emphasize one herb in a dish as in Poulet l'Estragon. In northern France where this dish is a classic, fresh tarragon from the garden is used in preparing the chicken for Sunday dinner. The Americanized version of chicken tarragon uses plump chicken breasts filled with an onion-tarragon stuffing. Browning in margarine and baking in white wine adds to the delicate flavor of this tempting dish.

To liven the appetite, without filling your guests, start the meal with mushroom consomme, a light chicken broth flavored with mushrooms and celery. Peppers, pimientos and raisins combine to make Rice Provencale, a unique and colorful accompaniment. Dessert — what could be more French than fruit tarts! The creamy pudding filling can be topped with any fruit — fresh, frozen or canned — and an apricot glaze adds the crowning touch to these luscious treats.

MUSHROOM CONSOMME

2 tablespoons margarine
1 can (2-ounce) mushroom stems and pieces, drained
1 can (10½-ounce) condensed chicken broth
1 soup can water
¼ cup chopped celery tops
Generous dash crushed marjoram

Heat margarine in a saucepan. Add mushrooms and brown well. Add broth, water, celery tops and marjoram. Cook over medium heat until heated through; stir occasionally. Makes four servings.

TARRAGON-STUFFED CHICKEN BREASTS

½ cup (1 stick) margarine
½ cup finely chopped onion
1 teaspoon tarragon leaves, crushed
½ cup unsifted flour
2 teaspoons salt
½ teaspoon pepper
3 large chicken breasts, split
1 cup dry white wine
Melt two tablespoons margarine in a large skillet. Add onion and saute over medium-high heat until partially tender, about three minutes. Add to tarragon; mix well. Set aside.

Combine flour, salt and pepper. Dust chicken breasts in seasoned flour. Melt remaining six tablespoons margarine in skillet. Add chicken a few breasts at a time and brown well. Remove. Cut a pocket on side of each breast. Stuff each breast with about one tablespoon of onion mixture. Place in a 3-quart oblong baking dish, skin side up. Pour wine over chicken. Bake at 350 degrees for 35 to 45 minutes, or until done. Makes six servings.

RICE PROVENCALE

½ cup chopped onion
one-third cup diced green pepper
¼ cup (½ stick) margarine
3 cups cooked rice

2 tablespoons chopped pimiento
½ cup dark seedless raisins
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
Saute onion and green pepper in margarine until tender, about five minutes. In a large bowl combine the onion mixture with rice, pimiento, raisins, salt and pepper. Mix thoroughly. Turn mixture into a lightly greased 1½-quart shallow baking dish. Cover. Bake at 350 degrees 30 minutes, or until well heated. Makes six servings.

Potatoes add to any supper

The French also have done more to glamorize the potato than any other country.

Called pommes de terre or earth apples, the versatile potato has graced the finest tables of French kings and queens for centuries. To satisfy royal appetites, the great chefs of France devoted considerable effort to creating elegant potato dishes that have survived to this day.

Some of these great dishes are surprisingly easy to duplicate, yet spectacular in flavor and presentation. As an example, classic French Potatoes Anna is a dish that requires little effort yet offers all the elegance usually associated with haute cuisine.

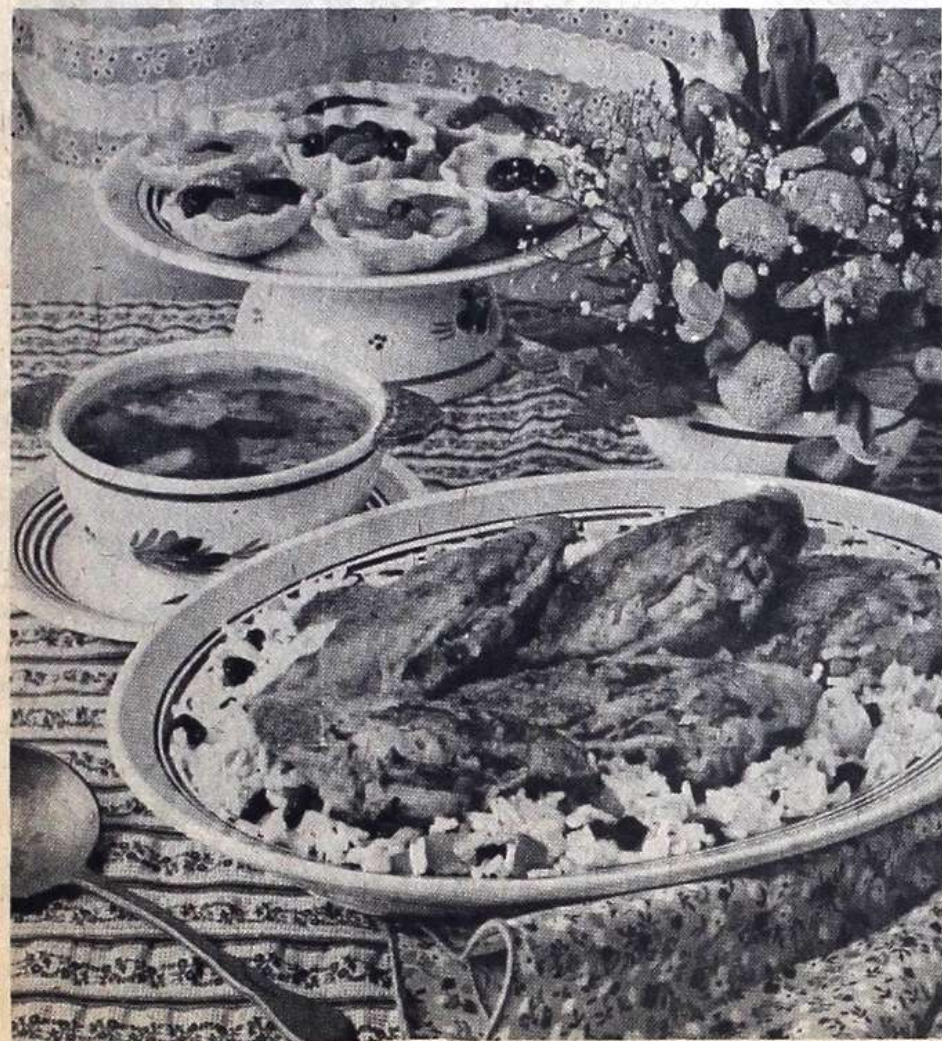

Potatoes, sliced and tossed in butter, are simply baked and unmolded onto a large platter for serving.

Surrounded with cooked choice broccoli heads, tiny onions and tomatoes, Potatoes Anna is an exquisite addition to a dinner.

POTATOES ANNA

6 medium potatoes (about 2 pounds)
½ cup butter or margarine, melted
1 teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon pepper
Peel potatoes and slice very thinly. Immediately toss slices in melted butter to coat thoroughly and prevent browning. Arrange buttered slices in layers of overlapping circles in generously buttered 1½-quart shallow casserole or oven-proof bowl. Bake at 425 degrees for 30 to 40 minutes until potatoes are tender. Invert on serving platter. Serve hot. Makes six to eight servings.

WINTER TREAT—For a case of the mid-winter blahs, serve up a bit of Paris with a strictly French meal. Starting off with a mushroom consomme and tarragon-stuffed chicken breasts, top off the meal with fruit tarts. The dinner is guaranteed to chase away the blahs and brighten the usual dinnertime bill of fare.

For family

Beef rollup is imperial treat

When you're planning a party menu, remember that elegance doesn't need to be expensive.

Properly cooked and attractively served, simple food can be more elegant than an elaborate culinary creation that calls for so many rich ingredients they cancel each other out.

The next time you're the chef for a special occasion, think simple, the way Chinese cooks do, and let the food itself be the star.

For example, try Chinese influenced imperial beef roll. It's a festive dish that combines marinated round steak with a savory bread stuffing and an easy-to-make sauce.

IMPERIAL BEEF ROLL

Step I
1 beef round steak, about 2½ pounds

MARINADE:

½ cup each: La Choy Soy Sauce, water, and dry sherry
1 tablespoon brown sugar
2 tablespoons each: lemon juice and salad oil
¼ teaspoon liquid hot pepper sauce
1 clove garlic, crushed
¼ teaspoon freshly ground black pepper
1 tablespoon cornstarch
Trim meat. Cover it with plastic wrap and flatten with flat side of meat pounder or rolling pin to about ½-inch thickness, taking care not to tear meat. Peel off plastic wrap.

Combine the ingredients for marinade (except cornstarch) and pour over meat in a shallow dish. Marinate, covered, in the refrigerator for at least two hours, basting occasionally with marinade. Before stuffing, remove meat from marinade and pat dry on paper towels. Reserve marinade.

Step II

While meat is marinating, make the stuffing:

Bread Stuffing

¼ cup chopped onion
½ cup thinly sliced celery
two-thirds cup each: water chestnuts and bamboo shoots ½ cup chopped canned mushrooms
one-third cup butter
2 tablespoons chopped parsley two-thirds cup chicken broth

one-third cup light cream
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon freshly ground black pepper
½ teaspoon sage
¼ teaspoon each: marjoram leaves and ground thyme
6 cups toasted white bread cubes

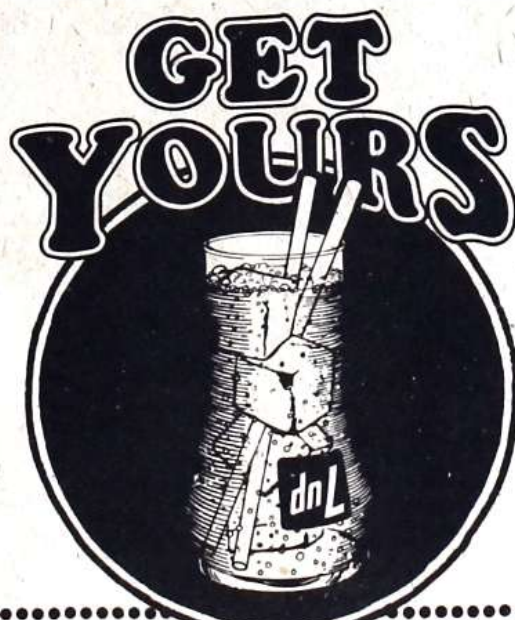

Cook onion, celery, water chestnuts, bamboo shoots, and mushrooms in butter for three minutes; add remaining ingredients.

Step III

Spoon stuffing onto meat, spreading to within ½-inch of edges. Roll up the meat lengthwise; secure with skewers or toothpicks and string. Place in a baking dish with reserved marinade. Cover; bake at 350 degrees for 1½ hours or until tender, basting occasionally. Place meat onto a cutting board; remove skewers and string. Cut into thick slices.

In a small saucepan, blend cornstarch with a small amount of marinade; add remaining marinade. Cook on low heat until marinade is slightly thickened. Serve as a sauce with sliced beef roll.

In smokers

Clinics work for firm resolve

New Year's is a time for resolutions, and one of the most commonly made and broken is the promise to stop smoking. The Michigan Cancer

Foundation (MCF) in coordinating National Education Week on Smoking and Health (Jan. 11 through 17), is offering Smoker's Withdrawal Clinics to help make "kicking the habit" stick in 1975.

The MCF Smoker's Survival Clinics are patterned after the 5-day plan developed by the Seventh Day Adventists.

Volunteers coordinate the individual programs, lead group discussions and present films and other educational materials. Health care professionals serve as guest speakers, discussing the body's reactions to smoking, diseases caused by smoking and symptoms that may accompany withdrawal.

The area clinic will be held from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m., Feb. 3-6 at the Allen Park High School, 19901 Champaign in Allen Park.

The Southeastern Michigan Council on Smoking and Health also operates a "hot line" to keep smokers informed of clinic locations throughout the year.

The "Smoking Phone" number is 833-5205.

Special care needed on icy winter streets

Numerous on-the-job injuries in Western Wayne County result from slips and falls on icy sidewalks, parking lots, roads and other outdoor locations. Snow removal and frequent salting of these areas can help.

But many times total elimination of the hazard is impossible and measures must be taken to cope with the problem, according to officials from the Michigan Department of Labor.

Being aware of the danger is very important, the department said. Walkers should learn to anticipate the fact that they are apt to fall at any moment when walking on ice.

Footwear should have low heels and soles constructed of slip resistant materials. Leather-soled footwear shouldn't be worn on slippery surfaces.

Galoshes and other rubber footwear that have developed smooth soles from continued use also should be avoided.

Smooth, flat, icy surfaces, such as may be found on an ice rink, are less hazardous than the usually irregular surface found on roads and sidewalks which become rutted by travel, Department of Labor added.

Also, snow is less slippery than ice. It may be advisable to drive or walk through a little snow to avoid an icy spot, it was added. Officials said that care before venturing out into winter streets will help reduce the possibility of sprains, concussions and broken bones during this Michigan winter.

Window painters win cash prizes

The winners of this year's Belleville area Christmas window painting contest have been awarded cash prizes by the Belleville Area Improvement Association (BIAA), contest sponsors. The Christmas paintings that decorated the windows of several local merchants and business establishments were done by Belleville area art students.

The winning Christmas window displays were judged by Michael Kirila, manager of the Belleville branch of the Bank of the Commonwealth.

First place honors and a $25 prize went to Belinda Cox, of 6250 Hannan Road, for her painting on the window of the Wyandotte Savings Bank at 10680 Haggerty Road.

Second place honors and a $10 prize went to Linda Maton of 12175 Beckley

Boating patrol to teach

The Ann Arbor Power Squadron will offer a free course in boating safety and small boat handling beginning Jan. 15.

Classes will be held in the west cafeteria at the Pioneer High School in Ann Arbor. Registration for the class is set at 7:30 p.m.

The United States Power Squadron's course is open to both men and women over the age of 16. Ownership of a boat is not required.

The course runs for 10 weeks, two hours per week. The meeting time is 7:30 p.m. each Wednesday evening. There will be a final examination at the end of the course.

For further information call the course chairman, Mel Dabick, at 668-8677 or toll free (800) 243-6000.

Journals shift base

The Belleville Enterprise and The Romulus Roman, weekly publications of Associated Newspapers, Inc., a division of Panax Corp. of East Lansing, has moved into newer and larger quarters at their Belleville-based headquarters.

The offices of the official newspapers serving the cities of Belleville and Romulus and the townships of Huron, Sumpter and Van Buren still are located in the old Van Buren Township Hall, Fourth and Main streets, Belleville, but now occupy a larger portion of the first floor.

The new entrance is located at 116 Fourth Street instead of 405 Main Street.

Michigan Bell Service Bulletin

Improvements in Belleville's Phone Service!

This Sunday, January 12th, new electronic telephone office equipment will go into operation to serve Belleville customers with 697 and 699 telephone numbers. The new equipment will provide for several time-saving services, including Touch-Tone® calling, Custom Calling Services and these other long distance improvements...

New long distance service.

Now you can dial person-to-person, collect, credit-card and bill-to-third-number calls. Even from coin phones.

Here's how it works:

Within your 313 Area:

Dial 0 plus the number you want to reach.

Outside your 313 Area:

Dial 0 plus the Area Code and the phone number.

In either case, an operator (assisted by high-speed computer) will intercept your call and ask, "May I help you?"

Dialing person-to-person calls.

Simply tell the operator the name of the person you're calling.

Dialing collect calls.

Just answer, "Collect..." and give your name.

Dialing credit-card calls.

Give the operator your credit-card number.

Dialing bill-to-third-number calls.

All you do is say, "Bill to..." and give the Area Code and telephone number.

In each of the above situations your call is being automatically routed through while you are giving the operator the necessary information.

It will no longer be necessary for one- and two-party customers to give the operator their phone numbers for billing purposes.

No change in the way you dial station-to-station long distance calls.

Within your 313 Area:

Continue to Dial 1 plus the phone number you wish to reach.

Outside your 313 Area:

Dial 1, then the Area Code and the phone number.

International Direct Distance Dialing service (IDDD) is also available to you.

Now you can dial your own calls direct to any of 20 foreign countries. Complete details are contained in a folder which is yours for the asking from your Michigan Bell Business Office.

No change in making emergency and assistance calls.

Do as you've always done. Dial 0 for "operator".

Repair Service and Information telephone numbers change.

Note that your Repair Service number will change from 48-611 to 611. New number for Information will change from 48-411 to 411. We also ask you to dial all seven digits (instead of five) for local calls.

How to get Touch-Tone and Custom Calling Services.

Now's a great time to install Touch-Tone service.

Touch-Tone phones make every call faster, easier. And they're stylish, too. In your choice of Trimline®, Princess® or standard phones in table or wall models. Touch-Tone service—the convenient, inexpensive way to save time when placing calls.

Custom Calling services can make your phone more convenient and versatile than ever.

They include any or all of these convenient new services: Call Waiting that lets you hold a call while a second call is answered; Call Forwarding that automatically transfers incoming calls to whatever other phone number you designate; Speed Calling for reaching frequently called numbers by dialing just a few digits, and Threeway Calling that lets you add a third party to an existing conversation. We're doing everything we can to make the changes as smooth as possible for our Belleville customers. But if you have any questions, wish to order Touch-Tone or Custom Calling Services, or would like the International Direct Distance Dialing (IDDD) folder, don't hesitate to call your Michigan Bell Business Office at 482-9900.

Milliken predicts auto industry comeback

The sagging automobile industry soon will recover its feet and "flourish once again," if predictions made by Gov. William Milliken in his Jan. 1 inauguration address hold true. The comments were made as part of an address which called, in large part, for renewed confidence in business and government.

Milliken urged "an end to despair and defeatism, before it puts an end to us." He later told the assembled crowd of nearly 400: "We are the automotive capital of the world and our most famous industry is in a terrible slump. "Soon, I'm convinced sooner than most people realize, that industry will begin to recover. People will buy cars because they need them, and this great industry that has brought so much prosperity to so many Michigan citizens will flourish once again."

layoffs followed an earlier unconfirmed report of the information by a Detroit radio station.

Ford recalls trucks

Ford Motor Co. is recalling 11,400 four-wheel drive light trucks to repair possibly defective front axle spindles.

The automaker said the spindles may crack on 1974 and 1975-model F-250 light duty trucks.

Ford added that the problem surfaced in laboratory and vehicle testing. No reports of the problem have come from customers.

More than 10,500 of the recalled trucks have been sold in the United States, nearly 600 in Canada and about 250 are in other parts of the world, Ford said.

Perkins gets job

Mitsubishi Motors Corp., owned 15 per cent by Chrysler Corp., said recently that Robert A. Perkins has been elected to its board of directors.

Perkins, who will be a non-resident director, currently is serving as chairman of Chrysler Australia Ltd., and concurrently as vice-president of Chrysler International S.A. in charge of the Far East, South Africa and Turkey.

VW lays off

Volkswagen (VW) the largest West German automaker, Thursday laid off 86,000 of its 111,000 domestic workers until Jan. 10.

The layoffs were attributed by a company spokesman to the general slump in the automobile industry.

He added that foreign prices for VW products will not change, but domestic prices will be increased 3.5 per cent.

Pacer is star

Detroit's newest small car, the American Motors Pacer, will be in the spotlight at the Jan. 13 meeting of the Detroit Section of the Society of Automotive Engineers. AMC Board Chairman Roy D. Chapin Jr. will tell the story behind the new model and outline its position in the 1975 car market.

Tax deadlines set on Jan. 15

Both farmers filing their 1974 declaration of estimated federal income tax and taxpayers due to pay the fourth quarter installment of the 1974 declaration of estimated federal income tax must file that document by Jan. 15, with the exception of those who file their income tax return and pay the total tax due by March 3.

Taxpayers who earlier filed estimated tax on their 1974 income must pay the fourth quarter installment by Jan. 15, said R. L. Plate, IRS district director.

IRS Publication 225, "Farmer's Tax Guide," and 505, "Tax Withholding and Declaration of Estimated Tax," provide additional information and are available free at IRS district offices.

Burton wins board position

A Detroit attorney has been elected chairman of the Board of Wayne County Road Commissioners.

Freddie G. Burton, a former member of the County Board of Commissioners, succeeds Michael Berry, who had held the chairmanship for the last four years.

Burton has been vice-chairman of the 3-member Board of Road Commissioners for the past two years.

Following Burton's election, the board elected Thomas P. O'Rourke to the post of vice-chairman.

Berry, for whom the newly-opened International Terminal at Detroit Metropolitan Airport is named, will continue to serve on the board.

Appointed to the commission for a 6-year term in 1971, Burton is a graduate of Wayne State University Law School, is married and the father of seven children.

Chicken supper served

A family-style chicken supper will be held in the basement of Willow United Methodist Church on Willow Road in New Boston at 5 p.m. tonight.

Admission to the supper is $3 for adults, $2.50 for carry-outs and $1.50 for children under 12. Children under five will be fed free.

City schedules 2 hearings

Belleville residents will have an opportunity to actively participate in the planning of a community-wide development program by attending two public hearings scheduled this month by the Belleville City Council.

The public hearings initially will be conducted before the Belleville Planning Commission next Tuesday and again before the Belleville City Council on Jan. 20. Both hearings will start at 8 p.m. and will be held in the Municipal Building at 6 Main St.

The public sessions are being offered under the provisions of the federally-operated Community Development Act of 1974. The federal act requires the holding of a series of public hearings.

An application for funds under the Community Block Grant Program of the act is being prepared by Urban Renewal Director Henry Graper.

The application, approved by the City Council, is for a 3-year plan involving $189,000 in federal funds available to the city under the development act.

The residents' active participation in the community-wide development planning will be through these public hearings and individual responses to a questionnaire, listing activities that may be funded under the grant.

The questionnaires, which have been distributed and picked up at City Hall, will be opened and reviewed at the public hearings before the Planning Commission and the City Council.

Residents will be permitted to include in the grant applications projects they would like seen as part of community development.

Official explains tax collection fee

Included on tax bills for the winter collection period in Romulus running from Dec. 1, 1974 to Feb. 28 of this year is a one per cent collection fee.

The collection, a combination Wayne County tax collection and second half of the Romulus school tax collection, has prompted questions regarding the one per cent fee from taxpayers, according to City Treasurer John B. Lewkowicz.

He said the Wayne County Bureau of Taxation called for the fee in lieu of excess of roll, which has been collected on the winter bill in the past.

The bureau said the one per cent fee will show only on the tax statement and will be credited to the contingent fund of the city, Lewkowicz said.

Also according to Lewkowicz:

"The State Legislature in 1973 made excess of roll illegal other than for computation purposes, and permitted the communities throughout Michigan to place a collection fee on the tax roll.

"Actually there are 33 cities and 10 townships in Wayne County collecting the fee," he continued. "Our community is levying it to defray a portion of the expense to the city for the winter tax collection in which the city receives nothing for the additional employees involved in collecting for the county, school and other entities.

Lewkowicz also explained the presence of the Wayne County Community College and Wayne County Intermediate School Special Education taxes on the bill.

He said Romulus taxpayers will pay 73 cents per $1,000 of assessed valuation in 1975 to retire construction bonds sold by the college board.

The special education tax was approved by voters last August.

Medical aide training gets program funding

The first year's funding of a 3-year grant totaling $19,705 from the Veterans Administration (VA) for use in a physician's assistant training program has been awarded Mercy College of Detroit.

The report of the first payment was made by Arnold E. Mouish, director of the Ann Arbor Veterans Administration Hospital.

The 3-year grant will be administered by Harriet Gales, director of the physician's assistant training program at the college.

The college is affiliated with the VA hospital and the grant is to be used to coordinate and supervise the physician's assistant training program through clinical experience at the hospital.

The grant will be continued for two more years, subject to the availability of funds and program progress.

Mouish said the VA grants are authorized by a public law and are designed to alleviate shortages in health care personnel and promote quality health care by expanding and improving education and training opportunities throughout the United States.

The local program will build on the affiliation between the VA hospital and Mercy College that permits cooperative arrangements and coordination of resources between the two, the VA hospital director added.

The grant is one of 16 to schools of health professions and occupations that recently were approved by VA Administrator Richard L. Roudebush in Washington, D.C.

Together, these have total first-year funding of $2,430,000 and a total estimated funding of $14,965,000 over 3- to 7-year periods.

WHILE YOU'VE BEEN WORRYING ABOUT THE PRICE OF BANANAS, WE'VE BEEN WORRYING ABOUT WHAT IT WOULD COST TO REPLACE YOU.

You're more concerned with the rising cost of food than you are about the rising cost of dying. That's understandable. Bananas are more fun to think about any day.

So while you've been thinking about bananas, we've been thinking about you. That's why we've just announced a wide selection of new life insurance plans. Because, should you go off to your great reward a little earlier than you expected, we know you don't want your family left holding the bag.

In fact, we'll sit down with you right now and determine exactly how much money your wife would need to run the house. How much she'd need to send your kids to college. How much she'd need to maintain the house and car. We'll help you plan ahead for just about everything.

The other good thing about our new life insurance plans is that not only do you get the financial planning protection we've just been talking about, but at the same time you'll also build up real cash values you can cash in on during your lifetime, or even borrow on at a low 6% interest rate. Because what we're selling, really, is life insurance. Not death insurance.

Belleville area callers to get custom service

Michigan Bell Telephone Co. has disclosed that Touch-Tone service, International Direct Distance Dialing and several custom calling features soon will be available for the first time to telephone customers in the Belleville area.

Eugene L. Greek, Michigan Bell's local manager, said the new telephone services will be made possible by the installation of an electronic switching system (ESS) in the company's new office located at 370 South St. in Belleville.

The installation of the ESS equipment completes a 2-year, $4 million project to "improve and expand telephone service in this area," Greek said, adding that the new equipment will become operational at 2 a.m. Jan. 12.

When Michigan Bell started its statewide austerity program last June, the company indicated it would review scheduled construction projects to determine which ones could be delayed without adversely affecting service, Greek continued.

The company decided the new ESS could not be deferred, because installation schedules made it imperative that construction proceed, he said.

Touch-Tone service and International Direct Dialing (IDD) will be available to customers with 1-, 2- or 4-party service, he added. However, Custom Calling will be available only to customers with 1-party service.

With a Touch-Tone phone, a caller can tap out a number in about five seconds compared to the 15 seconds it usually takes to dial a number on a conventional phone, Greek continued.

Custom Calling features to be offered for the first time include:

- Call forwarding, which automatically transfers an incoming call from one telephone to another.
- Call waiting, which lets a customer using the phone know that there is a second call waiting to be answered.
- Speed calling, which permits a customer to quickly reach frequently called numbers by dialing 2- to 4-digit codes.

- Three-way calling, which enables a caller to add a third party to a 2-way conversation.

With IDD, customers will be able to dial their own long distance calls to some 20 overseas countries without operator assistance. Overseas calls can be completed almost as fast as domestic calls, Greek said.

Another improvement in long distance calling will be automatic number identification of direct dialed long distance calls, he added.

"This will mean that telephone customers with 1-or 2-party service no longer will hear the operator come on the line to ask for the calling number when they dial their own long distance calls direct," Greek continued.

"The new equipment automatically will record the calling number as well as other billing information such as the called number and the time and duration of the call," he explained.

Customers with 4-party service will continue to give their numbers to the operator when they dial long distance calls direct, Greek added.

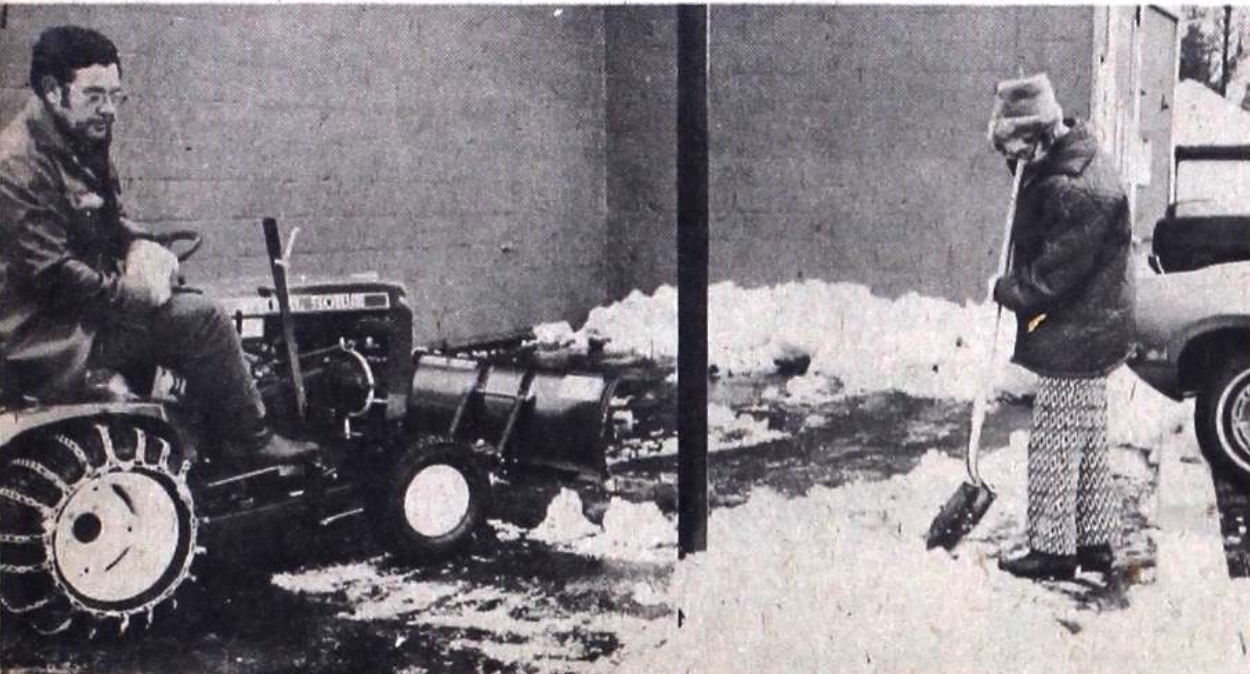

Cautioning callers "not to be alarmed," when they hear a new dial tone after the ESS equipment goes into service, he said a low-pitched dial tone is characteristic of the electronic equipment.

Greek said area customers no longer will be able to place local calls by dialing only six digits. "You'll have to dial seven digits in the number or the call will not go through," he said.

After Jan. 12, the number to call for new number information will be 411 and the number for repair service will be 611, he added.

HAROLD REDISKE, HAROLD REDISKE, JR. - DIRECTORS

Weird happenings in recent years cause at least some people to wonder whether the pledge of allegiance means anything anymore. In yesteryears the ritual stirred a more intense loyalty and a more distinctive appreciation of obligations of citizenship. Unimpeachable principles of patriotism of Americanism, united us for many years. We dishonor the flag, ourselves and our country when we allow oppositional views on PROGRAMS to dim our remembrance of PRINCIPLES...

With the exception of the few people who refuse to pledge allegiance to anything or anybody due to religious beliefs, most of the rest of us have many times recited the pledge of allegiance to our flag and country. The ritual was learned at an early age and in later years repeated again and again in civic, fraternal and patriotic groups. It is a gesture of patriotism and devotion to country.

BANK ON US

Wyandotte Savings Bank began way back in 1871. Our philosophy was simple and direct. To provide our customers with the best in banking services at fair and reasonable prices. To be honest and direct in our relationships with both customers and employees. And, hopefully, to make a profit for our stockholders.

That philosophy has worked well for us. Through five wars, two depressions and four generations, Wyandotte Savings Bank has lived by those principles.

Today, thanks to the people of the downriver area, Wyandotte Savings Bank has 14 offices and total resources of over $170,000,000.00.

If you're looking for a bank that is consistent and courteous in its dealings with people, one that you can trust to provide you with the latest in banking services, come to Wyandotte Savings Bank. We're dependable. You can bank on us. That means something in this day and age.

SHREW TAMER—Starring in the Hilberry Theater's production of Shakespeare's "The Taming of the Shrew," opening today on the Wayne State University campus, are Jan Lewis and Justin Rashid as Kate and Petruchio, the violent lovers. Tickets are available at the theater box office, telephone 577-2972.

On college campus

Two troupes offer classics

For playgoers in Western Wayne County, the two theater groups of Wayne State University will be offering a taste of the classics and the new during January.

A new production of Shakespeare's "Taming of the Shrew," designed especially for student audiences, will open Wednesday at the Hilberry Theater.

The play, a Shakespearean look at the battle of the sexes will alternate with "Hamlet" in the matinee schedule and productions from the regular repertory. The opening time time for the production will be 2:30 p.m.

As part of the production, the play will be staged as in the school matinee repertory through May.

Playing the roles of Kate and Petruchio, who stage the "war" between the sexes, are Jan Lewis and Justin Rashid respectively. Colby

Schneider will handle the role of Bianca, with Jeff Boudov, Al Hamacher and John Michael Hosking will play Grumio, Baptista and Leontio respectively.

The Bonstelle Theater, the university's training ground for both undergraduate and graduate students, will be offering the stage adaption of Ken Kesey's novel "One Flew Over the Cuckoo's Nest."

The play will open at the theater at 8:30 p.m. Jan. 17, with additional performances scheduled for 2:30 p.m. Jan. 19 and 26.

The play tells the story of a man who feigns insanity to get from a penal farm to a mental institution where he rallies fellow patients around himself to challenge the authority of the head nurse.

Under the direction of Robert T. Hazzard, the play stars Jim Siatkowski as the rebel McMurphy and Crystal Premo as head nurse Ratched.

Information and ticket reservations can be obtained by calling 577-2960 for the Bonstelle and 577-2972 for the Hilberry.

By RICBOHY
The Enterprise-Roman
Movie Reviewer

At a time when the American film market is gagging on remakes and genre copies of previous successes, at least one such effort stands out as worthwhile entertainment.

Billy Wilder's "The Front Page," a remake of the 1931 film which in 1940 was remade again under the title "His Girl Friday," reunites the uproariously funny team of Walter Matthau and Jack Lemmon.

Set in 1929, during the halcyon days of Hearstian yellow journalism, Wilder's film tells the story of two crusty newspapermen who find themselves the sole heirs to the hottest story of the decade. And their attempts to maintain an exclusive hold on the "scoop" provide Matthau and Lemmon with rich ground for hilarity.

Sterling performances—no, brilliant caricatures—are submitted by Matthau, Lemmon and company.

Cast as the Bromo-swalling, hardnosed managing editor Walter Burns, Matthau shines with his schemes to prevent the imminent resignation of his best newspaperman.

And as that ace reporter, Lemmon brings just enough bravado to the role to let us know that Hildy Johnson, a newspaperman to the bone, doesn't really want to marry Peggy Grant and leave his job at the Chicago Examiner.

Other memorable characterizations are handed in by Austin Pendleton as the hapless convict, Earl Williams; Vincent Gardenia as "Honest" Sheriff Pete Hartman; and David Wayne, Allen Garfield, Charles Durning, Herb Edelman and Jon Korkes as the scruffy regulars at the press room in the criminal courts building.

Surprisingly, the one weak component in this beautifully engineered film is Carol Burnett's overly-melodramatic portrayal of Molly Malloy, the tramp with a gold-plated heart. But in this case, the weak link can be overlooked. "The Front Page" is superb.

HOT STORY—Director Billy Wilder hovers over straw-hatted Jack Lemmon, a dour Walter Matthau and sleazily-attired Carol Burnett in this sketch from the production of the uproarious Ben Hecht and Charles MacArthur tale of the yellow days of journalism, "The Front Page."

Art Institute calendar shows cultural events

Entertainment

January is a month filled with numerous activities for the Detroit Institute of Arts which is offering visitors a dash of Michigan artistry, the paintings of Degas and a marionette show.

Now through Feb. 9, the institute is showing "Michigan Focus: The Exhibition for Michigan Artists."

The display is part of triple showing set at three different points in the state. The Flint Institute of Arts is showing paintings of the state's artists while the Grand Rapids Art Museum is offering works on paper. The art institute is responsible for the sculptures.

"Degas at the Art Institute" will be on display on the main floor of the north wing through Jan. 12. It offers 24 paintings, sculptures, pastels, drawings and prints, all part of the museum's permanent collection exhibited together for the first time.

The show marks the 100th anniversary of the first Impressionist exhibition.

For youngsters the Youtheater is presenting the comic marionette version of the fairy tale classic "Cinderella" at 11 a.m. and 2 p.m. next Saturday.

The Fred Cowan Puppets will be staging the production for youngsters 5 years and older.

The museum's film theater will be offering "The Little Theater of Jean Renoir" a French movie, at 7 and 9 p.m. next Friday with "Last Tango in Paris" set for the same times the following day.

The art institute is open from 9:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Tuesday through Sunday. For further information on the programs, contact the institute at 831-0360.

Old clocks to be topic

The Henry Ford Museum in Dearborn continues its 23rd annual Antiques Lecture Series on Friday with a discussion of clocks by William H. Distin, administrative assistant to the president of Greenfield Village and the Henry Ford Museum.

Distin's illustrated lecture, "The Willard Family of Clockmakers," will be presented at 8:30 p.m. in the Museum Theater.

The presentation is the third in the current series of seven talks centering on the theme, "Americana Collections in Greenfield Village and the Henry Ford Museum."

VICTORY FOR VICTOR BUTLER — With two years of solid wrestling competition behind him, Romulus' Victor Butler appears ready to take on the best in the state. Here, referee John Kaluzenka raises the 138-pound senior matman's hand after Victor dumped John Glenn's Freddie Shoemaker 2-0. Romulus heads for Ann Arbor on Saturday to compete in the Huron River Rat Tournament. First year coach Avern Logan says he's optimistic that the Eagles will fare well at the tournament.

Tigers split at Wayne Prep '5s' resume shooting

By TOM MOORADIAN
Sports Editor
With vacations behind them and the league battles and state tournaments ahead, Belleville, Romulus and New Boston Huron cagers resume shooting this week.
Belleville, which split at the Wayne Memorial Holiday Tournament, got the new year jump on its two area rivals as Coach Tom Niemelä's Tigers met Livonia Bentley Tuesday night. They will take on a highly-touted Dearborn at Dearborn Friday.

Bentley is the only Suburban 8 Conference team to beat Salem, the defending champ, and Dearborn appears to be the heir-apparent to the prestigious conference throne.
MEANWHILE, Romulus has two of the top teams in the state to contend with. Coach Jesse Meriweather's Eagles take on Detroit Southeastern tonight, then await undefeated River Rouge, one of the top Class B teams in the state this season.

Romulus carried a 2-5 won-lost record into the new year and Meriweather will be hard-pressed to equal last year's 16-5 won-lost mark.

New Boston Huron surprised Annapolis to capture the Dearborn Heights Holiday Tournament championship and Coach Lee Goodney hopes the momentum will carry into the new year.
THE CHIEFS are scheduled to meet a tough Monroe Catholic Central team on Friday as the Huron Conference war continues.
After a heart-breaking setback against Glenn in the first round of the Wayne Holiday Tournament Belleville bounced back to beat Wayne, 78-70.

"It was an important victory for us," said Niemelä. "We managed to come back from a disheartening loss. Wayne is a fine basketball team and to beat them just has to give us a lift."
James Thompkins, making his debut in the Tiger starting lineup, and Dennis Easley, a workhorse at both ends of the court spurred the Belleville attack.
Belleville worked its way to a 22-14 first period lead, then ripped off eight unanswered points in the second stanza to take a commanding 43-28 halftime advantage.
THOUGH 6-5 Wayne center John Nibert and Pat Sheridan led a third period Zebra comeback, Wayne never saw the lead again.

DEADLOCKED — Romulus' Ivory Allen, one of the area's top wrestlers last year, fiddles around with John Glenn's Bill Ficyk before earning a 7-0 decision over his 126-pound rival. Allen and the Eagles will join Belleville in Ann Arbor to compete in the prestigious Huron "River Rat" tournament. Romulus met Garden City East last night in their first dual meet of the New Year.

Johnson wins mat title

Belleville High wrestling coach Gerald Malecek gave his Tigers a week off for the Christmas Holidays and when the Tigers returned to the mats last Saturday they didn't look as sharp as they had in December.
Belleville finished sixth at the third annual Wayne Memorial Invitational.
"You have to rest some time," said Malecek, "and I figured this was the best time. We have the league and state ahead of us."
"THOUGH we finished sixth, it wasn't that bad because three of our regulars Randy Slocum, Chuck Brezeale and Randy Calhoun weren't in the lineup."
Belleville's best effort came from Greg Johnson, who captured the gold medal in the 100-pound class.
"This tournament gave a lot of our guys some experience," offered Malecek who will take his contingent to the Ann Arbor Huron River Rat Tournament on Saturday.

Scoring more points than the second and third place finishers combined, Wayne Memorial won its own wrestling invitational Saturday night for the third consecutive year.
The duel between Wayne and Detroit Catholic Central, the defending state Class A champ, didn't materialize as Coach Don Haney's grapplers amassed a total of 135½ points as compared to Catholic Central's 65½.

FOR THE first time in Garden City West's wrestling history, the Tigers finished ahead of the powerful DCC contingent. West sneaked in as runner-up. Mike Zenko (187) and heavyweight Jim Tucker won the final two weight classes to give the late-starting West a four point margin over DCC.

Because of a teachers' strike earlier in the season, Garden City wrestlers started the season late.
West compiled a team total of 69 points.
All 12 Wayne wrestlers captured medals at the eight-team tournament. Of the 12 medalists, six were gold. First places went to Wayne's Paul Goosby (107), Gary Pate (114), Mark Ellis (121), Larry Michalik (128), Bob Colaianne (140) and Rick Hislop (169).

PATE also was awarded the Outstanding Wrestler's Trophy. In the finals he outpointed Detroit Catholic Central's Lance Donati 10-6. Donati, a transfer student from Allen Park, was a member of the United States junior wrestling team that toured Japan during the summer.

Pate's record this year stands at 12-2-0. The two losses were sustained from Glenn's Argron Vasha who was a second team All-Area selection last year (20-10-0).

Goosby, at 107, and Dave

Refitt collects letter

Former Belleville High and All-Area cross country ace, Gary Refitt, was among the 13 Eastern Michigan University runners awarded varsity letters this season.

Coach Bob Parks' contingent captured the 1974 Mid-American Conference championship.

The Huron runners finished the season with a 6-1 record in dual meets and captured the Mid-American and Central Collegiate championships plus the NCAA-University Division District No. 4 title.

AT THE NCAA-UD championships, the hurriers placed sixth. Among individual finishers, EMU's Gordon Minty finished 17th. Minty earned All-American honors for the fourth consecutive year, (one year in the college division, three years university division).

The following is a list of lettermen: Don Hubbard (Ann Arbor), from Detroit are Jim Deren (Cody), Nick Ellis (Cooley) and James Thomas (Mackenzie); Brian Williams (Howell).

Catfish isn't worth $3.7 million

By TOM MOORADIAN

If there is any consolation to the recent deal that the New York Yankees made to obtain Jim "Catfish" Hunter, it's that the Yanks are optimistic the economy will improve.

How else can one explain the fantastic package New York offered the former Oakland A's pitching star?

Hunter, a 106 game winner over the past five seasons and last year's American League Cy Young Award recipient, signed a multi-year contract with the Yanks recently estimated to be worth $3.7 million.

Area high school coaches believe that Hunter isn't worth that much, and that the controversial contract inevitably will lead to dissension among players not only in the New York organization but other ball clubs as well.

"I CAN'T HELP but think that the contract will hurt the game," said Vi Kaminskis, Belleville High coach who has been fielding prep teams for the past 25 years. "It's sure to cause dissension on the Yank ball club."

"However, Hunter has proven himself and when you compare his salary to that of some of the pro basketball and football players it actually isn't out of line."

"But, you have to give him (Hunter) credit for being able to pull off such a deal."

WAYNE MEMORIAL'S Jim Chronowski used the adage "rich get richer, the poor poorer" to describe the unhealthy situation which the Hunter deal reveals.

"In a franchise situation where players can be bought and sold, the rich franchises have the advantage. Those with money prosper, the poor ones don't."

"I feel that no player is worth that much," continued Chronowski, "because there are too many intangibles involved. Denny McLain is an excellent example. His arm went dead and the Tigers were fortunate to get rid of him at the right time and for what they got for him."

Chronowski pointed out, "that Hunter has the potential to help the Yanks win the pennant, but I don't think I would like to be on a team in that kind of situation. Would you?"

WESTLAND JOHN GLENN coach Norm Hoenes used the recent world's heavyweight boxing title match to compare salaries in favor of Hunter.

"If Mohammed Ali is worth $5 million for one bout, then Catfish is worth all of $3.7," said Hoenes. "Athletes have only so many years to make it, and if they can get it (money), then they would be fools not to."

Making the rounds yesterday, we found that last year's Coach of the Year Rog Frayer (Livonia Churchill) and Ron Hellier (Livonia Franklin) aren't in town.

The two area high school coaches are attending a national baseball clinic in Washington D.C.
Not a bad place to be right about this time of the year.

Garden City East is the defending Western Wayne Swimming & Diving champ.

But East Coach Ron Clifton says he doesn't believe in miracles and doesn't expect his team to repeat. One of the reasons is the late start his swimmers got because of the teacher's strike.

"That strike hurt us a great deal," said Clifton who began his sixth season as coach last night losing to Cherry Hill 114-53. "Do you know that was our first meet of the season. Most of the other schools have at least four meets under their belts. It's going to be an uphill climb to catch these teams this year."

RON CLIFTON

EAST AND ITS cross-town rival, West, were forced to the sidelines while the teachers and board of education fought over a contract. During the strike the swimmers were denied the use of school facilities and without a pool, there was nothing the swimmers or coaches could do.

This Bird can swim

Swimmer is Glenn trump card

"He's our trump. He'll give us six points in any event we stick him in."

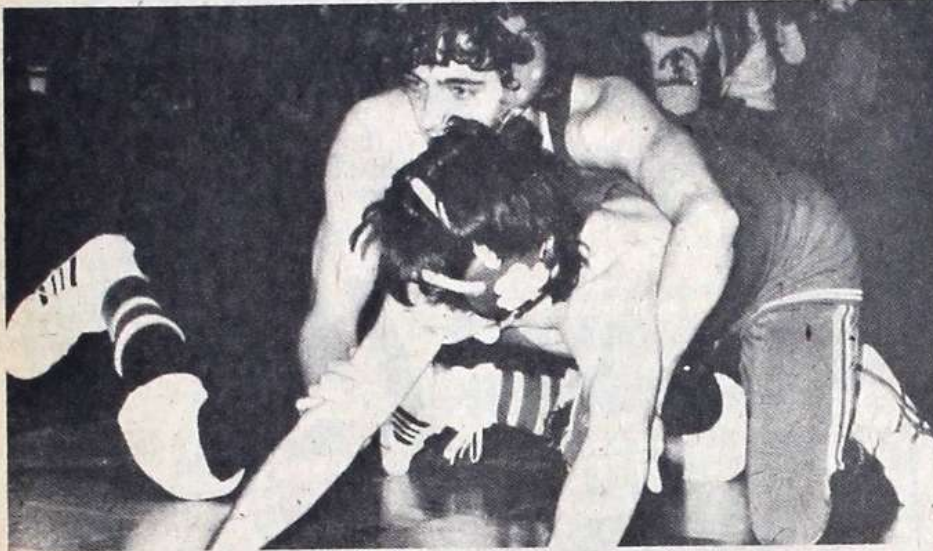

That's what Westland John Glenn swim Coach Al Wachtel had to say about his "blue chip" senior swimmer, Tom Bird. BIRD, who made the All-Area roster last year as freestyler, continues to hold down the top area times in three individual events and is a member of the Glenn's 400-yard freestyle relay team, a team that leads the area.

"He's a tremendous competitor," pointed out Wachtel whose Rockets are undefeated in dual meet competition this season. "If we need six points, we know Tom can get them for us."

Bird has been clocked in 1:53.9 for the 2-yard freestyle.

The area listing is compiled by Cherry Hill head swim Coach Jerry Pawloski and coaches are urged to contact him either at the high school pool (PA 2-5900) or at home (941-4399) after 6:30 p.m. to get their swimmers' times listed.

TOURNEY'S TOP PERFORMER — Wayne Memorial's Gary Pate (on top) stunned Detroit Catholic Central's Lance Donati 10-6 to win the gold medal in the 114-pound class at the third annual Wayne Memorial Invitational. Donati was a member of the U.S. Junior Wrestling team that toured Japan last summer and also a favorite to win the state title this season.

Rodriguez, Detroit Catholic Central's 147-pound entry who also is DCC coach Sam Rodriguez' son, are repeat winners.

Wayne has dominated the invitational the three years it has been staged.

Haney also received runnerup performances from Rick Pittman (134), Kevin Rize (157), Sid Parr (187) and Ed Willis (heavyweight) while Kevin Tracy (100) and Doug Cunningham (147) were third.

"OUR TEAM lived up to expectations," said Haney who earlier pointed out that this was the Zebras' first big test. "And some of our boys performed beyond expectations."

Garden City West, which replaced East in this year's lineup after the latter finished in the cellar a year ago, garnered two gold medals thanks to Zenko and Tucker.

West also was second with

Steve Gramm (107), David Rochon (147) and Scott Renner (169) and finished third and fourth thanks to Brian Kimball (121) and Nick Gavrilla (128), respectively.

BELLEVILLE, though a disappointing sixth team, received an outstanding effort from 100-pounder, Greg Johnson who worked Thurston's Mike Steele over for a 5-2 decision for the Tigers' only gold medal.

Tiger Coach Gerald Malecek got a third place from Jeff Bracken (128) while Kevin Bracken (121), Rick Bracken (134) and Don Woodby (147) placed fourth. Trophies were awarded to the championship and runnerup teams while medals were presented to the top four finishers in each of the 12 weight classes.

"This was the best crowd we have had at this tournament," said Bill Elliott, Wayne High's athletic director. "It's really gratifying to see how the fans support the teams the way they do."

"Thornbury (Ernie) came off the bench and played a fine game for us," said Niemi, "in fact, the entire team played well. And I had an opportunity to insert all of our players into the game."

Thornbury wound up with 25 points, the Tigers' top scorer and a career high. Easley chipped in 18 and rounding out the Belleville's balanced attack was Mel Abraham who sank 13.

For his all-around playing ability Abraham was one of five players selected to the inaugural All-Tournament team. Joining the Belleville cager were John Jesson (John Glenn), Terry Johnson (John Glenn), John Nibert (Wayne Memorial) and Bob Fowler (Cherry Hill).

"We're now attempting to reschedule some of the meets that were cancelled because of the strike," said Clifton, "but most of the teams are booked solid, so I doubt if they will be made up."

Clifton said that in order to make up for lost time he has scheduled two-a-day practices but that, too, has run into a road block.

"It's kind of hard to go doubles with meets and everything," explained Clifton, "but we're trying to get into the pool as much as possible."

Clifton figures that his team "will be ready at the tailend of the season."

"But, you have to figure that we lost about a month's time and that's a lot to try to make up."

THOUGH EAST MAY not pose any threat to the WW title ambitions of such teams as Belleville, Wayne Memorial, Glenn and Cherry Hill, the Panthers do have three veteran swimmers who could swim off with gold medals in their specialties.

Mark Blanchard, Frank Fitus and Chuck Cooper who figured prominently in last year's campaign and earned All-Area recognition on way to the Western Wayne and East Invitational titles are still swimmers to be reckoned with.

"I figure we will have a medley relay team that will be among the best in the area and the league," said Clifton, "but we just lost too much time and graduated quite a few seniors to be in the midst of any title war this season."

THERE ARE A LOT of coaches in the area who will be happy to hear that, coach.

Meanwhile, Al Wachtel, Westland John Glenn swimming coach, announced yesterday that the dates for the annual Western Wayne Invitational have been set.

The dates are Wednesday, Feb. 12 (diving) and Saturday, Feb. 15 (swimming).

By the way you know that the annual invitational coming up is WW No. 13?

South swimmers set record

Record-setting performances and fine rookie showings set the tone for back-to-back victories posted by the Belleville South Junior High School swimming team.

John Stosick's South Tigers proved too much for Trenton High's freshmen team as the local tankers churned out a 47-29 victory.

Record-breaking times by the 200-yard medley relay team, Russ Bearance in the 200-yard freestyle and Howard Renton, in the 100-yard backstroke highlighted the meet.

THE RELAY made up by Renton, Dean Girard, Phil Berger and Terry Caves, set the 9th grade record at 2:02.3.

Bearance broke his own 7th-8th grade record in the 200 free by clocking a 2:04.8, while Renton came back to go a 1:06.0 in the 100 back to set a new 9th grade mark.

Other fine jobs were turned in by Gary Clemmens in the 50 yard freestyle and Karen MacDermid in the 100 free, both dropping their times noticeably.

Haston Junior High fell prey to South, 53-23, as the three team records set Tuesday were either tied or broken.

The same medley relay moved ever closer to that magic "sub 2-minute" mark by taking first place with a 2:01.85. Bearance still lowered his time in the 200 free to 2:03.9, while Renton tied his 100 back time at 1:06.0.

Not setting records but giving fine performances were Time Frey in the 200 free, Norm MacDermid competing in his first 100 yard individual medley and Terry Caves and Tom Rizzo in the 50 yard freestyle.

COMING on strong is 8th grader Ron Fredrick, who placed 2nd behind teammate Kevin McKelvey in diving. The duo of Phil Berger and Chris Renton went 1-2 in the 50 fly with times of 28.8 and 31.5, respectively. Chris came back one event later to post a 1:15.4 in the 100 back and then watched as Phil took 1st in the 100 yard breaststroke at 1:14.4.

Strong showings were also turned in by rookies Debra Burt, Mike Sherwood, Larry DeRousse and Marci Rocha. "Both Trenton and Haston are really fine teams," said Stosick, "but our kids really showed some toughness in there when it counted."

"We're looking forward to our workouts to develop the young kids and give us some of the depth we'll need when we go to the six lane pools to swim in January."

All-tourney '5'

There were some surprises at the Wayne Memorial Holiday Basketball Tournament and among them was the outstanding performance by Wayne's 6-5 senior pivotman John Nibert.

Nibert stole the show by scoring a tourney high 62 points for the two games and 28 rebounds to lead all others. He was an unanimous choice for the inaugural All-Tournament team.

Others named were: John Jesson (Westland John Glenn), Terry Johnson (Westland John Glenn), Bob Fowler (Cherry Hill) and Mel Abraham (Belleville).

Fowler was the tournament's second leading scorer with 50 points and 24 rebounds.

Johnson, Jesson and Belleville's Ernie Thornsbury each had 39 points while Abraham collected 35.

COMEBACK — Blocked out from the boards is Belleville's Dennis Easley (15) who watches John Glenn's John Jesson (40) grab this rebound during the first round of holiday tournament play at Wayne Memorial. Belleville lost this one but came back to trounce Wayne the following night 78-70 with Easley contributing 18 points. Coach Tom Niemi's Tigers are back in action Friday night, clashing with a highly-respected Dearborn quintet.
